

HITLER, DUCE DEMAND FRANCO-GERMAN PACT AND OUSTING OF RUSSIA FROM ALL COUNCILS

FOREIGN WINE BAN ORDERED BY CHIEF FOR NOVEMBER 1

City Safety Committee to Discuss Matter at Session Tonight; Members Voice Approval of Statement of Sturdivant.

TIME IS ALLOWED TO CLEAR STOCKS

Georgia Law Prohibiting Sale of Imported Wines Will Be Enforced Here, Chief of Police Asserts.

Rigid enforcement of state laws banning sale of imported wines will be begun on November 1, Police Chief T. O. Sturdivant announced last night. Members of the public safety committee are expected to give unanimous approval to the order at the regular meeting of that body tonight.

In a short statement, Sturdivant laid disorders, automobile accidents, rowdiness and other breaches of the peace to the sale of illegal wines of high alcoholic content, gave dealers until November 1 to clear their stocks and issued an ultimatum that he will ask public safety committee members to revoke permits for violation of the state law in the future.

Conservative estimates last night were that about 5,000,000 gallons of imported wines are consumed annually in Georgia in defiance of the state light wine act, which prohibits the sale of any wines not manufactured in Georgia.

To Provide Market.
The Georgia light wine act was designed to provide Georgia farmers with a market for their berries and fruits and to be a boon in establishing wine manufacture as a new industry in the state.

Proponents of the measure pointed out that a cash market would be available to farmers who raised crops for wine purposes. Importation, however, has caused the projected new industry to lag despite the fact that large investments have been made by progressive corporations and several of them are now manufacturing a superior product from Georgia-grown products.

Atlanta's purchase $3,000,000 worth of the illegal products every year and another $7,000,000 worth is consumed by the remainder of the state, according to estimates.

Committee Sympathetic.
Alderman Frank H. Reynolds,

Embalmer Given Life In Slaying of Wife

OREGON, Ill., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Guy Tallandier, 56-year-old embalmer, was convicted today of murdering his middle-aged wife so he could be free to marry a willow widow and his punishment was fixed at life imprisonment.

The pallid defendant maintained a calm silence when the verdict was read in a crowded court room. Conspicuously absent in the finale of the case that has excited high interest in Ogle county was Mrs. Frances Birch, red-haired widow of 32 who was pictured as the "other woman" in the triangular love affair.

New Crimes Laid to Bradley Since He Became Fugitive

Pittsburgh Asks That Bond Firm Head Be Held To Answer Swindle Indictment There, as Guilty Plea Is Entered to Charges Here.

(Pictures in Page 5)
By LAMAR Q. BALL.
A fresh series of crimes, committed within the last 18 months, were laid at the door of Benjamin R. Bradley yesterday while he was being taken into federal district court to plead guilty to 38 separate charges of mail fraud in his operation of the bankrupt American Bond & Share Corporation and affiliated companies.

Shortly before Bradley was ushered into the courtroom, a request to hold him for Pittsburgh authorities arrived at the offices of United States Marshal Charles H. Cox. In that city, Bradley was recently indicted for a swindle scheme that cost a Harrisburgh, Pa., city employee his life savings, his home, his job and resulted in the death of his wife from a broken heart. That crime, it is charged, was committed in January and February of this year, while Atlanta police were hunting the fugitive stock gambler.

This sudden action from Pittsburgh threw into some confusion what was scheduled to have been an orderly ceremony, with Bradley and his attorney, Phil C. McDuffie, walking

SENATOR COUZENS DIES IN DETROIT

Operation Fatal to Distinguished Lawmaker, Who Rose From Ranks.

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—(AP)—James Couzens, United States senator, who as an office clerk joined Henry Ford at the turn of the century in founding the motor car company that grew to gigantic proportions, died in a hospital here after an operation last night.

The 64-year-old independent Republican whose senate career started in 1922, entered Harper hospital October 14 suffering from uremic poisoning. Members of his immediate family, including his son, Mayor Frank Couzens, of Detroit, were at his bedside when death came after the operation.

A week ago today the senator left the hospital to greet President Roosevelt, whose re-election he had termed "the most important matter confronting the nation." After this statement, Couzens was defeated for renomination.

Mr. Roosevelt, on a campaign tour, offered to visit Couzens at the hospital, but Couzens left his bed, joined the executive at dinner aboard the special train, and stood with him at two platform appearances.

Since his left kidney was removed at Rochester, Minn., a year ago, his life had depended on proper functioning of the right organ. When an operation was performed, it was expected that the right organ would take over the work of the removed kidney.

BIG CROWDS ROAR WELCOME TO F.D.R. OVER CONNECTICUT

President Speeds for Capital After Journey in Triumph Over Highway Jammed by Thousands.

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—With one final assertion that conditions "are better than they were four years ago," President Roosevelt ended tonight at Stamford, Conn., his stop-and-go automobile stumping trip through three New England states.

From start to finish of a 125-mile motor ride southeastward today from Connecticut's capital, the President campaigned for the state's eight electoral votes with a contention that the New Deal has brought greater "prosperity."

The nine-and-a-half-hour tour was almost as much stop as it was go because the caravan of official cars had to slow down or halt entirely as crowds by the thousand turned out in city after city to see a president and candidate.

Attack on Roosevelt's Fiscal Policies Continued in Chicago Speech.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, former Democratic candidate for president, tonight continued his attack on the New Deal, urging the voters to cast their vote in a manner that will give a sane, orderly government under Governor Landon, of Kansas.

Smith's statement, made at the close of his speech at the Civic Opera house before a capacity crowd of 4,000, was in answer to a declaration for the Republican presidential candidate.

Governor-Nominee Says States Called 'Doubtful' Are Really Democratic.

By L. A. FARRELL, Staff Correspondent.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 22.—The so-called doubtful states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri are more than safe for President Roosevelt, Governor-Nominee E. D. Rivers, of Georgia, declared here today in the midst of a campaign swing through this section.

The Roosevelt-Garner ticket will sweep the section through which he has traveled, reports of special interests to the contrary. The Georgia governor asserted, "If everything else is as safe as this section I see no reason why the President should not carry every state west of the Allegheny mountain range with the exception of Kansas."

Mr. Rivers is in St. Louis to address the national convention of Independent Tire Dealers. His speech, while non-political, deals with certain economic phases which are wrapped up in the forthcoming election.

Solid for Party.
"In the four pivotal states I have visited, the Democratic party is solidly behind the President," Mr. Rivers asserted. "They have had their factional differences within the party just like we have our own in Georgia, but when it comes to supporting the national administration there is a unity of purpose which cannot and will not be overcome."

Mr. Rivers pointed out that in Ohio the President's progress has been so certain that party leaders are now expecting him to carry bally Governor Davey back into office with him. Governor Davey has been a critic of some phases of the New Deal and his criticisms have brought him many antagonists within his own party.

His stand on Roosevelt undoubtedly will cost him some votes, the Georgia governor-nominee said, but he added that in his opinion the Roosevelt majorities in the upper sections of the state will be large enough to insure victory for the entire state ticket. Senators Baileys and Donahay are out campaigning for Mr. Roosevelt. The former is extremely popular in northern Ohio.

British Daily Withdraws Article On King's Right to Wed Commoner

By VIRGINIA PINKLEY.
(Copyright, 1936, by Virginia Pinkley.)
The News-Chronicle, first national newspaper in Britain to print open discussion of the possibility that King Edward may marry a commoner, late tonight withdrew from its columns a long dispatch asserting that the sovereign may marry whom he pleases provided only that his wife is not a Roman Catholic.

No explanation was made immediately by the newspaper. It was assumed, however, that pressure was brought to bear despite the fact that the royal household traditionally exercises no censorship over the press.

The News-Chronicle distributed the dispatch in proof-sheets in mid-evening but at 11:15 announced that the story would have been deleted.

Spanish Fascists Advance Troops to Within Ten Miles of Madrid in Day-Long Battle for Possession of Capital.

LOYALISTS NAME NEW ARMY CHIEF

REGIME OF BLUM IS 'PUT ON SPOT'

All Bridges Are Dynamited to Slow Advance; Franco Orders Sinking of Ships Aiding Reds.

(Editor's note: Associated Press war correspondents are with the fascist armies at Mostoles and at Illescas, and with government troops outside Madrid. With the siege of the capital concentrated into a small area their dispatches have consolidated into a composite picture of the battle.)

By The Associated Press.
Hard driving fascist armies laid siege to Madrid last night (Thursday) and forced government forces back into the environs of the capital.

Retreating from one town after another before the precise advance of the mechanized columns, the government defenders dug in at Mostoles, 10 miles from the heart of the capital, and in Torrejon de la Calzada, 13 miles from the city.

Mostoles is on a highway running southwest from Madrid to Navalcarnero, captured by the insurgents. Torrejon is on a divergent highway out of Madrid between the capital city and Illescas, also held by the fascists.

Fascist bands patrolled the slice of countryside between the two units, thus driving the ever-narrowing base of a triangle close to Madrid.

To Sink Hostile Ships.
With Madrid besieged, the fascist high command was reported to have ordered its warships to sink Russian vessels believed transporting arms to the fascist enemies.

Other European nations were notified of this order, the unconfirmed reports said.

The harassed government leaders, it was reported, had decided to move the seat of their capital to Barcelona where President Manuel Azana and three high cabinet officials have already set up offices.

With this development, government leaders said, the Madrid forces would be able to make the civil war drag on indefinitely, no matter what the fate of Madrid, in the hope that sympathetic nations such as Russia might eventually offer concrete military aid before the Spanish cause was irretrievably lost.

To the northwest of Madrid, fascist troops were reported to have moved.

STATE TAX SYSTEM IS STYLED ROBBERY

J. R. Smith Favors Tax Limitation in Real Estate Board Address.

The present Georgia tax system was described as legal robbery of thrifty citizens by J. R. Smith, Atlanta attorney, in a talk favoring the passage of the 15-mill tax limitation amendment before a meeting of the Atlanta Real Estate Board yesterday. "Advocates of this amendment do not claim it is an economic cure-all," Smith said, "but it is the first step toward a system of taxation that will make available to the people of Georgia just taxes on the millions of dollars in intangible wealth." He pointed out owners of corporate bonds lose money on their investment if they return them for taxation as required by law. These assets can be hidden, he said, and declared they are hidden, thereby "making the real estate carry the load of taxation."

MRS. R. T. THORNTON, 69, PASSES AT RESIDENCE
Mrs. R. T. Thornton, of Easley, S. C., died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry C. Savage, of 1255 McLendon avenue, N. E., at the age of 69. She had been in ill health for several months.

Besides Mrs. Thornton, surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Paul H. McDonald, of Georgetown, S. C., and three sons, J. D. Thornton, of Wilmington; Lieutenant R. T. Thornton, of Philadelphia, and Ben C. Thornton, of Greenville, S. C.

Funeral services and burial will be held in Easley, where the body was taken yesterday morning.

The Pilot Club is composed of two members from each business classification in which women are engaged. The Atlanta club, according to latest available records, is the second largest of the 57 clubs throughout the nation, Mexico and Cuba.

VANDENBERG SCORED BY SENATOR BYRNES

Michigan Solon Owes His Re-election to F. D. R.,
Carolanan Says.

DOVER, Del., Oct. 22.—(AP)—United States Senator James F. Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina, accused Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, tonight of reversed form in his public utterances and termed his interrupted radio "debate" with the recorded voice of President Roosevelt a "publicity stunt."

Referring to Senator Vandenberg's address Tuesday in Wilmington, in which the Michigan senator defended his broadcast, Senator Byrnes said in a speech prepared for delivery to a Democratic rally at a theater here: "It would be more interesting to have him debate with himself."

Declaring Senator Vandenberg knew he could not have been re-elected in 1934 "without pretending to support the President," Senator Byrnes said he would like "to have a record of the speeches delivered by Vandenberg" when he was up for re-election in Michigan.

Supported Roosevelt.

The Democratic senator quoted Vandenberg as saying in 1934: "We owe all possible support to Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, in what we unitedly hope and pray may be the permanent upsurge of American affairs."

Commenting on this, Senator Byrnes declared that "by thus swinging to the coat-tails of President Roosevelt he managed to secure his re-election to the senate for a six-year term. In view of the statements he then made the people will pay little attention to his denunciations of the President at this time."

Charging that "revolution was around the corner" in 1932 and early 1933, Senator Byrnes said the Democratic party, under President Roosevelt, provided for refinancing of the people's mortgage debt, enabled farmers and home owners to borrow money at low rates, and moved to restore purchasing power by providing jobs and increasing pay through the NRA and raising farm prices through the AAA.

The Democratic administration, Byrnes said, "has done more to advance the cause of the wage-earner in America than any other administration in the political history of the nation."

Critics of the administration, he continued, point to employment in Europe in support of the argument that conditions would have improved here without the Democratic measures.

"If any man seriously argues that conditions are better in Europe," he said, "ask him whether he is willing to let down the immigration bars."

Turning to the public debt, Senator Byrnes said: "Claiming some familiarity with the finances of the government as a result of long service upon the appropriation committee, I assert that the net increase in debt from March 4, 1933 to October 1 of this year is not in excess of $8,000,000,000."

For this increase in debt, he said, the national income has been increased $24,000,000,000 since 1933 while marketable securities have increased in value more than $100,000,000,000.

When the veterans "came to Washington to a Democratic administration for the payment of this debt," he said, "they got bonds, whereas when they came to Washington during the Hoover administration, they got bullets."

Replying to a charge of broken pledges, he recalled that of the Democratic platform of 1932, "Every one of these pledges has been redeemed by the Democratic administration," declared the South Carolinian, "the only pledge not redeemed is the pledge to balance the budget. The administration was confronted with the alternative of violating that one pledge or redeeming it and violating all of the other pledges."

1 YOUTH DIES, 3 JAILED AS POLICE GET BANDITS

Holdup Quartet, All in 'Teens, Give Memphis Officers
Auto Gun Battle.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(AP)—A brief career of alleged gangster-style crime led to a morgue today for one Chicago youth and to jail for three teen-age companions.

A tiny young girl—barely turned 15—was lodged in the city jail here along with two boy friends with whom she was captured early today after a mile-a-minute highway gun battle with officers spurred to action by a daring raid on a drug store at a busy downtown Memphis corner. The holdup netted approximately $50.

The car occupied by the juvenile quartet—police records said it was stolen in Chicago—plowed through a steel highway barricade 11 miles north of Brownsville, Tenn., with officers in hot pursuit.

Police bullets whistled over their heads when the four children—police said the oldest wasn't more than 20—emerged unharmed from the car. The girl, Priscilla Frost, of Beloit, Wis., and a youth who said he was Dick Flannery, 16, of Chicago, were captured at the scene.

Their companions, described by Detective Sergeant W. T. Pilkinton as Jimmy Magid, 15, of Chicago, (other officers said Magid was 20) and Chester Johnson, 16, another Chicago youth, took to the cane at the roadside.

An hour later, Magid was found dead, a bullet in his left temple. Sergeant Pilkinton said Magid ended his own life rather than surrender. Johnson, too, Pilkinton said, had boasted he would "not be taken alive," but he surrendered meekly when officers encountered him on the outskirts of Brownsville a few hours later.

After Johnson's arrest, he, Flannery and the girl were brought to Memphis. Magid's body was brought here to await burial plans.

In 1708 two men—William Glover and Colonel Thomas Cary claimed the North Carolina governorship. Each agreed to issue writs for an election. The election was held and Cary won.

Green Hill, who lived in Franklin county, North Carolina, about 1800, is said to have entertained the first Methodist conference held in North Carolina or in Tennessee.

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY ACCEPTS NEW POST

Harmon Will Go With Motion Picture Interest
Next Year.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Francis S. Harmon, general secretary of the international committee of Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States and Canada since 1932, announced his resignation tonight before the organizations national council, in session here.

On March 1, Harmon said he would assume a post with the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, of which Will H. Hays is head.

Harmon told members of the council that the offer came to him "unsolicited" from Hays, and that he accepted because of the opportunity to "high social service at a moment when an increasing volume of moral support from . . . the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths is behind the constructive forces" within the film industry.

MY COOKERY

By MISS RUTH CHAMBERS.

There are a whole handful of reasons why lamb has become a year-round meat, as popular in summer, fall and winter as in the spring. First of all, lamb has the happy quality of combining well with all vegetables and any of the fruit garnishes. It offers infinite possibilities for adding zest to menu planning. It adds piquancy and variety to meals. Broiled or roasted, lamb is among the meat dishes recommended in the diet of the very young child. This means, with lamb on the table, there is no need for providing "something extra" for the tiny tots.

Other points in favor of lamb: It is nutritious and high in food value. The quality of its protein is unexcelled. It is a rich source of those two essential minerals, iron and phosphorus, and of vitamins A and B.

Variety of Cuts.
The new methods of boning certain portions of lamb have added to the number of roasts and chops offered for the homemaker's selection. It has been received with enthusiastic welcome the country over, for it is ideal for the small family.

Now for some suggestions for preparing and serving lamb! If you haven't yet tried the rolled lamb shoulder, you'll want to. Have the meat retailer bone and roll the shoulder. Then in preparing it, sprinkle it with salt and pepper. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.)

and roast without the cover and without adding water.

Apricot Sauce.
This apricot sauce was made to go with lamb. You're certain to enjoy it if only because it is different from mint sauce, which seems wedded to lamb.

Two cups cooked apricots, 3-4 cup sugar.
Rub some of the apricots through the colander, reserve some halves for garnishing. To the puree add the sugar and cook slowly. Baste the roast lamb with the sauce. When ready to serve, garnish with the reserved apricot halves.

Baked Lamb Ring.
Ordinarily meat loaf is not unusual, but here's a meat loaf that is a meat loaf. It's a baked lamb ring, and a delicious way for making use of the less-demanded lamb cuts.

Two pounds ground uncooked lamb, 1 cup milk or stock, 1 egg, 1 cup cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 green pepper, minced; 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Combine all the ingredients thoroughly and pack into a greased ring mold. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour. Turn out onto a chop plate and fill center with buttered carrots and peas. Garnish with tomatoes.

Roast Leg of Lamb.
In preparing the leg of lamb, do not remove the "fell," that thin, papery covering over the outside. It should not be removed from the leg, since this roast will keep its shape better and cook in less time if the fell is left in place. The fell does not affect the flavor of the meat in any way.

Sprinkle the roast with salt and pepper, and place skin side down and cut side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Place in a moderate oven (300-325 degrees F.). Allow about 35 minutes per pound for roasting.

There are any of a score of garnishes suitable for lamb roasts. Fried pineapple slices, broiled bananas, baked pears or stuffed prunes are worthy of consideration. And, of course, a sure sign of lamb is mint jelly or mint sauce, or even minted apples.

Lamb a la King.
Perchance there may be some leftover roast, utilize it as lamb a la King. Served in patty shells, it makes a company dish out of leftovers.

Two cups cold cooked lamb, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup lamb stock, 1 cup milk, 1-2 cup celery, diced; 1 small can button mushrooms, 1-2 cup peas, 1 pint tomato, sliced; 1 green pepper, diced; 1 glass currant jelly.

Cut the cold cooked lamb into cubes. Melt butter and combine the flour with it. Gradually add the liquids, stirring until the sauce is thickened. Then add diced lamb, vegetables and mushrooms, and season with salt and pepper. Serve in patty shells or timbales. Place on top of each a cube of currant jelly and garnish with parsley.

ROBBERY SUSPECT RETURNED TO CITY

Jewelry Store Clerk To View Prisoner Today for Identification.

A man said by police to be Harry E. Hopkins, under indictment for the robbery of the Claude S. Bennett Jewelry Store, was returned to Atlanta by detectives yesterday after he had been held for them by Moultrie authorities. Detective Lieutenant J. A. McKibben and Detective Jake Woodruff, who brought the man back, said they found no trace of the stolen jewels in the Moultrie vicinity.

Hopkins will be questioned today, they said, and Mrs. C. J. Harris, a clerk in the Bennett store, will be asked if she can identify him as one of the three men who held up and robbed the store of $13,000 in diamonds several weeks ago. She previously has identified Harry Odom, one of the men returned from Seymour, Texas, and failed to recognize the other man brought back, Lee Branch.

Attaches of the state prison commission said Hopkins, convicted of robbery in Muscogee county November 21, 1932, and sentenced to serve from 10 to 20 years' imprisonment, had served part of the term in Colquitt county. The charge was reduced, they said, to a misdemeanor and Hopkins' Talmadge in May of this year.

BANDIT ROBS AUTOIST IN CAR NEAR OFFICER

$416 Taken From Insurance Man; Cafe Attendant Again Holdup Victim.

As a city detective sat in a car a few feet away, unaware of what was happening, a shabbily dressed armed bandit held up B. F. Cameron, insurance man, of 879 Clifton road, N. E., and robbed him of $416 when he attempted to park his car at Peachtree and Tenth street preparatory to entering a branch bank to make a deposit. So quickly was the act committed that Detective S. W. Roper, who was sitting in an automobile just behind the Cameron car, was unaware of the robbery. The officer said he was looking at a truck southbound on Peachtree and did not see the armed man.

After grabbing the money, which was wrapped in an old newspaper and was lying on the seat beside Cameron, the man fled on foot along Peachtree street and was lost in the crowd near the corner of Tenth street, Cameron told police.

As the bandit fled, Cameron began blowing his horn and Patrolman Turner Wallace ran up to the car and was told of the robbery. Roper chased the bandit but lost the trail. The bandit was described as being middle-aged, weighing 145 pounds and dressed in a brown suit and hat. He had apparently become well acquainted with Cameron's activities, the insurance man said.

After he and his modishly dressed woman companion had eaten a sandwich and sipped cups of coffee, a dapper bandit pulled a gun on C. E. Lankford, cafe attendant, at 672 Peachtree street, and robbed him of approximately $10.

Lankford told police the couple quickly left the cafe and fled in a light tan or yellow automobile. He said the woman looked on with a disinterested expression as the man held him up.

VET 'DEAD' 8 YEARS, FOUND IN CALIFORNIA

Ex-Soldier, Thought Drowned in River, Is Traced Through Bonus.

SOUTH PITTSBURGH, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(P)—The sons of Jesse Owen Gifford, two bright-faced schoolboys, learned today that their war veteran father is not dead as they had supposed almost as long as they could remember.

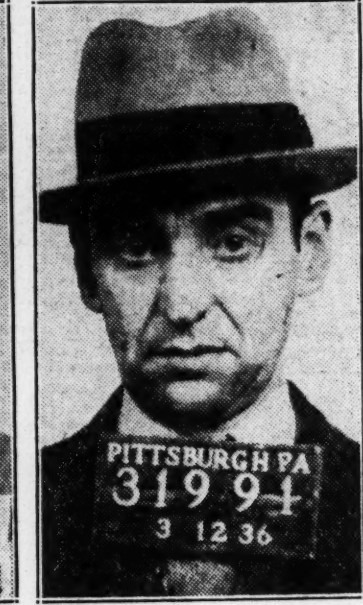

But whether he is coming back home to them was a question neither their mother, their friends nor possibly their long-lost father himself could answer.

William Gifford is 11 years old and Henry 14. They were very small boys when their father left home eight years ago—just went out on a business trip one day and never came back.

Mother Worked. They went to live with their grandparents and their mother went to work in a hosiery mill and for all they knew their father was dead even then. Possibly they didn't think very much about it after he was away so long.

Then five years ago a body was fished from the Tennessee river and everyone, even Mrs. Gifford, agreed it was Gifford's body. Some folk believed that so strongly that a man was arrested and charged with killing Gifford. But a magistrate cleared him of the charge.

After that Mrs. Gifford told the boys their father was dead. The oldest was well along in grammar school then and the youngest had started out. Nobody much doubted that their

Accused With Bradley in Recent Swindles

Harry Drake, left, and William Zupkoff, who are accused with Benjamin R. Bradley in various confidence schemes Bradley is said to have maneuvered since he fled from Atlanta in March, 1935. Drake is said to have been a bosom pal of Bradley, while Zupkoff has been sentenced for a bunco scheme in Pittsburgh for which Bradley has been indicted. United States Marshal Cox yesterday received a request from Pittsburgh to hold Bradley for them when the federal government finishes with him here.

father was dead, least of all the boys. True, a few people said he had "wanderer's blood" in him. They said identification of the body found in the river hadn't been final.

Mill Closes. After a while the hosiery mill closed down and Mrs. Gifford had to move to Nashville to work. She kept the boys in school here and came home week-ends to see them.

Last night she arrived off schedule—in the middle of the week. It was an unusual occasion. The boys were curious. So today, the mother said, she told them "that their father is not dead as we supposed."

Gifford was traced through the Veterans' Administration after he applied for bonus money which Mrs. Gifford, believing him dead, had already collected.

He was found in Susanville, Cal., last night. He refused to discuss his wanderings or his plans, other than to infer that he might never return home. "I like this country here," he was quoted as saying.

Has Leg Fracture.

He is recuperating from a leg fracture suffered in an automobile accident at Reno, Nev., in early summer. And Mrs. Gifford now is trying to get used to the idea that she is a wife again and no longer a "widow."

"I am delighted to learn that my husband is alive," she said today after talking the affair over with her lawyer. . . . "And I have told my two boys. . . . It would be the happiest event of my life to know that Owen wants to come back and pick up life where it was left off. . . ."

"During my husband's absence I have endured many hardships. At times the future has looked dark. . . ."

"If Owen doesn't care to come back to us, I shall continue my efforts to rear my children and make of them good and great men. . . ."

BITES IN BLACKSHEAR FOR SLAYER'S VICTIM

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P)—Relatives here announced today that funeral services for George Dean, slain at Jacksonville, Fla. Tuesday night, would be held at the victim's former home in Blackshear tomorrow morning.

Dean's son, Emory, 23, was held on a murder charge at Jacksonville. The father's throat was cut. County Detective Sidney Hurlbert said at Jacksonville that Dean told him he killed his father because "the Lord had told me to mix our blood."

BAPTIST BOARD PLANS TO PAY MISSION DEBT

Budget of $789,165.75 Is Approved at Church Convention.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 22.—(P)—The foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist convention adopted plans today designed to erase a $400,000 mission debt within the next three years.

The board said efforts would be made to solicit larger offerings for missions, and that property in foreign fields that is not in use would be sold and the amounts realized applied to the debt.

The foreign mission indebtedness has been reduced $710,000 during the past four years.

A budget of $789,165.75 for 1937 was approved with a unanimous agreement that expenses would be kept within the monthly appropriations.

Budget Provisions. The budget provided a $10,000 reduction compared with 1936 in the home base part, but increased the allotment for work on foreign fields by $37,164.99.

A reduction in debt interest charges from $85,000 four years ago to $13,000 for 1937 was reported, due largely to co-operation of banks in reducing the charges.

Dr. Charles E. Madry, executive secretary of the board, recommended the appointment of 20 additional missionaries for emergency replacements as soon as possible.

Dr. John Lake, of Canton, China, founder of the Tai Kam leper colony of south China, described the first visit to the bandit island where the government provided the site for more than a dozen buildings now included in the colony.

Report Is Submitted. Dr. Lake, now on furlough to raise special funds for the work, reported "encouraging" results.

Dr. Everett Gill, mission secretary to Europe, reported marked progress for Southern Baptist missions in European countries, and similar reports were heard on the church's work in Latin-America, Palestine, Africa and Mexico.

April 7 and 8, 1937, were selected as dates for the next meeting of the state and local board members. The local board meets monthly.

New members of the board attending their first meeting here today and yesterday included Dr. F. D. Feezor, of North Carolina; the Rev. Lemuel Hall, of Illinois; the Rev. Thomas Hansen, of Florida; and the Rev. J. Howard Williams, of Texas.

A. F. Sackman, produce company owner of Concordia, Mo., has been beating the same bass drum in a band for 50 years.

Merita CAKES 25^c

FLOUR IS HIGHER

BUT MERITA CAKES COST NO MORE HERE'S WHY

Mrs. S. R. Dull is the South's Foremost Culinary Authority. She tests the recipes and approves the ingredients of all Merita Cakes.

Read what she says about how Merita is able to maintain the size, richness and quality of Merita Cakes in the face of rising costs of the fine things with which they are made.

WHAT SHE SAYS IS NEWS TO MILLIONS

Let Mrs. Dull tell you the unusual story of Merita's Greater Value in her own words . . .

Says Mrs. Dull: Suppose you had been in my place the other day when the Bakers of Merita Cakes told me of their decision to maintain the size and value of Merita Cakes at no increase in price. Wouldn't you have been surprised? I know I was. But the reason is simple. In fact, the answer is simply you!

You and millions of other women like you have made this new Merita Cake value possible by your purchases. For the more cakes Merita makes, the smaller profit they expect on each cake and, today, more Merita Cakes are sold than ever before. So that's why in the face of higher prices of eggs, flour, milk, butter, Merita Cakes can be maintained at their old size and richness.

GEER TRIAL MOVED TO TERRELL COUNTY

Colquitt Citizen Charged With Slaying Woman Gets Venue Change.

COLQUITT, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P)—Judge C. W. Worrill, of Pataula superior court circuit, announced today that an order had been passed providing for trial of W. I. Geer, charged with slaying his young woman secretary, at the November term of Terrell county superior court. Judge Worrill said the order was in accordance with a judgment of the court of appeals granting Geer a change of venue.

Geer was arrested in Albany January 8, in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Charlie Mae Houston in Colquitt on that date. He has been held in the Dougherty county jail at Albany since his arrest.

Unrequited love was blamed by Sheriff B. E. Houston, of Miller county, for the shooting of the young woman. "Judge Geer fell in love with her, and she quit working for him and would not return his affections," the sheriff said the day after the shooting.

Geer surrendered when Dougherty county officers apprehended him near Albany the day of the slaying.

TEACHERS ARE URGED TO FIGHT TAX BILL

AMERICUS, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P)—The third district conference of the Georgia Education Association went on record today as opposing the 15-mill tax limitation proposal.

"This tax amendment is humiliating to every right-thinking citizen," Henry T. McIntosh, editor of the Albany Herald, told the school teachers and educators. "It means more than your salary," he declared, in urging them to get out and work against the proposal, which will be voted on as a state constitutional amendment in the November 3 general election.

J. Harold Saxon, president of the G. E. A., said the association would seek to give teachers recognition for educational traveling through extending credit toward renewal of teachers' certificates.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES BY Sally Saver

BREAD CHICKEN CROQUETTES.—Even though you may have a good supply of recipes for appetizing ways to use left-overs, here is another one to add to your file.

Chicken croquettes baked in butter are easy to make. One can prepare them in advance, place them in the refrigerator and then slip them into the oven 45 minutes before serving. Brush them with butter before baking to add to the flavor and to make them brown evenly. You can use veal or any ground meat that has been previously cooked, in place of the chicken in this recipe. To make them use:

Two cups chopped chicken or veal, 1 1/2 cups chopped celery, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon milk, 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Put chicken and chopped celery through a food chopper. Add parsley, lemon juice, salt, pepper and egg to meat and celery mixture. Brown the onions slightly in the melted butter; blend in flour and add milk gradually; cook until sauce is smooth and thick. Add to meat mixture, combine lightly and when cool shape into croquettes. Dip them in beaten egg and milk mixture and then in the bread crumbs.

Place in an oven-proof utility or baking dish and brush with melted butter. Bake for 45 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven.

You may like to add one tablespoon of ground mushrooms or one tablespoon of finely chopped almonds to the recipe, using ground veal instead of chicken.

Chicken and Dumplings.—Cut a chicken for stewing. Place in a kettle with cold water to cover, and simmer gently for one hour. Season with 1 teaspoonful of salt, 2 whole cloves, a sprig of parsley, 1-4 teaspoonful of white pepper, and a few leaves of celery. The seasonings may be placed in a cheesecloth bag so as to be removed easily. Simmer gently until the chicken is tender, but does not fall apart.

Prepare biscuit dumplings and place over the cooking fowl. Cover closely for 20 minutes and cook until the dumplings are done. Arrange the chicken and dumplings on the platter and pour around them the stock thickened with a little flour.

Fried Chicken.—Cut a 3-pound chicken in parts for frying. Roll in flour to which salt and pepper have been added. Have ready a hot skillet in which 1-4 cup of oil is heated. Fry the chicken until it is browned on both sides and the meat is cooked. Drain on paper and serve with a sauce.

Chicken Sweet Potato Shortcakes.—(Sweet Potato Covering) Three tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup chicken stock, 1 cup milk, 1 cup diced cooked chicken, 1-3 cup cooked peas, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1-4 teaspoon chopped parsley.

Melt butter and add flour, mix and add rest of ingredients. Cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour into one large or individual baking dish and cover with sweet potatoes.

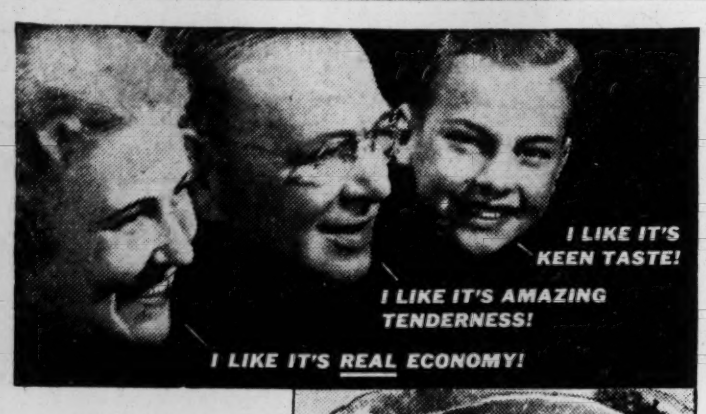

Sweet Potatoes.—Two cups mashed sweet potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-8 teaspoon paprika.

Mix ingredients and roughly spread over chicken. Bake 20 minutes moderate oven to brown top. Serve immediately.

Chicken Salad.—Two cups diced cooked chicken, 1-2 cups diced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers, 2 tablespoons chopped pimientos, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1-2 cup mayonnaise.

Mix all ingredients except mayonnaise. Chill, add 1-2 mayonnaise and serve on crisp lettuce leaves. Top with remaining mayonnaise and serve immediately.

Chicken Baked in Cream.—Have chickens weighing to 3 pounds each cleaned and cut up. Rinse and dry each piece then dip in flour, season with salt and pepper and arrange in a casserole. Cover with cream of mushroom soup which has been mixed with an equal quantity of water. Cover and set in mod-

RIVERS WILL DISCUSS PENSIONS WITH SOLOANS

Roy Harris Says Plans Will Be Mapped for Legislative Action in January.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P)—A series of conferences between Governor-designate E. D. Rivers and members of the next general assembly in November appeared today to govern the course through which Georgia will receive an old age pension law.

Representative Roy V. Harris, candidate for speaker of the house, announced here that Rivers will call such conferences next month in order to map plans for carrying out his principal Democratic primary campaign pledge through legislative action.

Enabling Act Seen.—The Richmond legislator said it was probable the assembly, within the first two weeks of its session, would pass laws enabling aged Georgians to receive $15 a month from the state government without the state having to contribute funds.

Under this special provision of the federal pension law, he explained, such an arrangement would be possible for the first of next year, after which the state would have to match the money in order to maintain the pensions.

Rivers, in an unofficial statement from his headquarters in Atlanta this week, said the general assembly next January will provide pensions for Georgians.

He did not divulge the proposed plan he had under consideration nor would he comment on it from the legislative session, but he said a series of addresses in the interest of President Roosevelt's re-election.

Speculation Develops.—Following Rivers' announcement, speculation developed as to the possibility of Georgia following a system similar to that under which Florida began paying pensions this month.

Under that plan, the state of Florida contributes to the fund necessary for the state to provide in order to obtain federal allotments.

Rivers' plan, he was announced, last week, have abandoned plans for a vote on a proposed but vetoed constitutional amendment to permit the state to levy taxes for pension purposes. A decision by the supreme court that only the governor could place the amendment question on the general election ballot, the legislator explained, led them to discard the idea of providing voters with amendment stickers to attach to their ballots.

However, Spence Grayson, Savannah legislator who sponsored the amendment proposal in the last legislature, yesterday announced he had mailed the official question forms to the various counties, and the national party included them on the ballots they have printed for use in their respective counties.

Forms Sent Out.—However, Spence Grayson, Savannah legislator who sponsored the amendment proposal in the last legislature, yesterday announced he had mailed the official question forms to the various counties, and the national party included them on the ballots they have printed for use in their respective counties.

MAISON SPEAKER

FAVORS 15-MILL BILL

MAISON, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P)—Despite temporary problems that might arise, C. Baxter Jones, Macon attorney, says the benefits which would follow passage of the 15-mill tax limitation amendment warrant its adoption.

"If for no other reason," Jones told the Macon Exchange Club at its weekly luncheon meeting, "I favor the tax limitation amendment because it will impose the necessity of working out a system of taxation that does not crush the taxpayer."

Jones said he had reached his decision on the question without influence from any personal interest and after studying arguments for and against the proposal.

"The most serious problem created by passage of the amendment," he said, "would be in connection with the education system, but that could be worked out. I believe the schools will come to be supported by the state."

He expressed the belief 80 per cent of the counties of the state would benefit under such a plan and that limitation probably would afford an opportunity for increased economy in government and possible further consolidation of counties.

DR SANFORD LAUDS FARM RESEARCH PLAN

AMERICUS, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P)—Chancellor S. V. Sanford, of the University System of Georgia, says the agricultural research program now being pursued by the system would itself "justify the use of funds appropriated by the Georgia legislature for operation of the university system."

The chancellor spoke to a joint meeting of the Rotatory, Kiwanis and Civitan clubs here last night. He reviewed the work of the board of regents of the university system.

He said the program now being undertaken to encourage the raising of Georgia's own work stock, and for wider use of peanut meal should mean much to the agricultural development of the state.

Farm experts say money of the value of one of every 10 of Georgia's cotton crop goes outside the state each year for buying work stock.

James R. Blair, editor and publisher of the American Times-Recorder, introduced Chancellor Sanford.

INCREASES ARE ASKED IN RAIL FREIGHT RATES

Nation's Carriers Ask Government for Permanent Tariff Schedules.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Proposals for increases in permanent freight rates were filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission today by the nation's railroads to compensate to some extent for the loss of $115,000,000 in revenue when emergency surcharges expire at the end of the year.

They said the proposed changes, covering virtually the entire rate structure, would increase rates and reduce others, but on the whole would result in a "somewhat lower level of charges than that now in effect."

The commission was not asked to approve the changes, but to permit the filing of the rate tariffs for consideration as a whole instead of having the railroads present hundreds of individual petitions.

In submitting the proposed increases, the roads told the commission they were confronted with a situation demanding "immediate steps to prevent a substantial decrease in their revenues."

"For the first eight months of 1936," the petition said, "the income of class No. 1 railroads was approximately $16,400,000. During the same period the emergency charges authorized by the commission reduced revenues to the class No. 1 railroads of $77,000,000.

"Without the emergency charges, which will expire December 31, 1936, in the absence of further order by the commission, class No. 1 railroads would have failed to earn by approximately $60,000,000 their fixed charges authorized by the commission for the first eight months of 1936."

The petition noted traffic had been improving but said the roads could not withstand the loss of revenue resulting from the elimination of surcharges without a revision of base rates. It asserted that the cost of labor, supplies and material had increased over $300,000,000 in the last two years.

Cadet Edward T. Hogenour, of New York, killed instantly.

The injured: Cadet M. L. Gowdy, of Birmingham, Ala.; Cadets J. L. Munroe, of Grosse Point, Mich., and G. C. Gibbs, of Hollywood, Cal., landed safely after falling out with parachutes.

REDS PROTEST TO PRALL NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Daily Worker, Communist party organ, announced tonight that William Z. Foster, Communist party official, had protested to Anning S. Prall, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, a reported attempt by the Durham, N. C., mayor to prevent James W. Ford from making a radio address from Durham Sunday afternoon.

Why Laxatives Fail In Stubborn Constipation

Twelve to 24 hours is too long to wait when relief from clogged bowels and constipation is needed, for then enormous quantities of bacteria accumulate, causing gas, indigestion and many restless, sleepless nights. If you want REAL, QUICK RELIEF, take a liquid compound such as Adierika. Adierika contains SEVEN cathartic and carminative ingredients that act on the stomach and BOTH bowels. Most "overnight" laxatives contain one ingredient that acts on the lower bowel only.

Adierika's DOUBLE ACTION gives you a system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old poisonous waste matter that may have caused GAS pains, sour stomach, headaches and sleepless nights for months. Adierika relieves stomach GAS at once and usually removes bowel congestion in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight results. This famous treatment has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 35 years. Take Adierika one-half hour before breakfast or one hour before bedtime and in a short while you will feel marvelously refreshed. At all leading druggists.—(Ad.)

Spectator Sportswear Is Bold and Colorful

District Checks of Jackets Are Larger Than Ever—Sometimes Overplaids Are Added—Herringbones Are Smart—Gray Flannel Slacks Still Are Leaders.

FOOTBALL FAN-WEAR

At the upper left is a tan camel's-hair raglan topcoat, worn with one of the new wider-brim, lower-crown university hats. At the right is one of the smart mixed-suit ensembles to be seen at the games this year—district-check jacket, gray flannel slacks with snap-brim hat and brown buck shoes.

By ROBERT FAIRCHILD,
Editor of Men's Fashions.
In more ways than one this is proving to be one of the most colorful football seasons ever known. There is more color and brilliancy in contrast in spectator wear this fall than ever before.

Large plaids and checks in high colors constitute a leading style of jacket for the smartly dressed spectator in the football stadium. The district-check jacket, backed by several seasons of authentic style background, has bloomed this year into an almost universal type of attire, yet so varied are the colors, sizes and arrangement of the different kinds of district checks, that it is anything but a uniform. A majority of the checks are of the well-known Glenurquhart type, in which a tartan effect is produced by groups of fine stripes running vertically and horizontally. Such an arrangement permits the use of many colors. Several seasons ago the colors in these Glen plaids were restricted to two or three shades of brown, but this year dark red, deep blue, burnt orange green are used frequently with gray-and-white and black-and-white grounds to produce thoroughly novel color effects.

OVERPLAIDS
AUGMENT CHECKS
The large designs seem to be gaining everywhere, the small checks receding in importance. Many of the checks, although already increased in size from the dimensions of previous seasons, are augmented with overplaids. In line with the trend to larger checks is the popularity of plain overplaids of large size on solid-color grounds.

Bold herringbones, wide than ever before, sometimes with a stripe down the central "spine," offer a change from the almost universal checks. Sharp color contrasts are particularly Next Friday The Constitution's Editor of Men's Fashions will bring you another article on what to wear this fall and winter.

TRADE AGREEMENTS ASSAILED BY PEEK

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 22.—(AP)—George N. Peek, first administrator of the AAA, declared tonight support of the administration's reciprocal trade pact "springs from the international banking interests centering about New York."

In a radio address prepared for delivery here, the former trade adviser to the Roosevelt administration criticized the agreements, accused the President of breaking promises to the nation's farmers and approved Republican agricultural proposals.

"President Roosevelt stands for the free trade internationalism of Geneva and the international bankers," he said. "The support of the Hull trade agreements springs not from the producers of America but from the international banking interests centering about New York. This is queer company for the New Dealers, who were going to drive the money changers from the temple."

During the last few years, however, Chinese shipping concerns controlled by the government have attempted to win a larger portion of coastwise and river trade by buying vessels from abroad, raising standards of seamanship and developing new lines.

MORGAN ASKS PRIORITY IN BANKRUPTCY CLAIM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—J. P. Morgan & Company today asked the supreme court to give the banking firm priority over the Reconstruction Corporation and the Railroad Credit Corporation in its claims of $5,850,000 against the Missouri Pacific railroad.

The high court was asked to review a decision of the eighth circuit court of appeals which grouped the three creditors in the same classification after a debtor proceeding was brought by the railroad under the provisions of the bankruptcy act.

The banking firm's petition to the court listed the R. F. E. claim at $23,144,500 and the Railroad Credit Corporation claim at $3,775,000.

FORMER JUDGE ENTERS FEDERAL PRISON HERE

Roscoe Luke Begins Service of 2-Year Sentence on Mail Fraud.

Roscoe Luke, former judge of the Thomasville city court, entered the federal penitentiary here late yesterday, Warden A. C. Aderhold said, to begin serving a two-year sentence for using the mails to defraud.

Luke was surrendered to federal authorities at Macon earlier in the day and was brought to Atlanta by Deputy United States Marshal Porter Doyle.

Convicted in September, 1935, on 10 of 13 counts of using the mail to defraud in connection with operations of the Citizens Building & Loan Company at Thomasville, Luke conducted an extended court battle in an effort to have his sentence set aside.

The circuit court of appeals at New Orleans upheld Judge Bascom S. Deaver's decision, and denied the defendant a new trial. A motion for a rehearing by the circuit court of appeals also was denied.

Luke was formally disbarred from practice of law in state courts this week and had previously been barred from the federal courts.

The former jurist, who had seen service with the Georgia court of appeals in addition to his post at Thomasville, was acquitted on the charge of slaying his business partner, Oscar Groover, of Thomasville, whose death occurred after Luke had been indicted for using the mails to defraud.

IMPORTED WINES BAN ORDERED ENFORCED

chairman of the public safety committee, last night said the matter will be thrashed out at a meeting of the city safety committee at the station tonight. Committee members expressed sympathy with Sturdivant's move.

Sturdivant conducted a personal investigation of local conditions following criticisms of local enforcement and the practice of permitting minors to serve wines and beers. He asserted unequivocally he is convinced that sales of foreign wines of high alcoholic content are responsible for much of the disorders prevalent in Atlanta and announced his determination to enforce the state law, which prohibits importation of any wines from Georgia.

Rapped By U. S. Judge
Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of the federal district court of the northern district of Georgia, condemned the practice of importing minors to dispense wines, beers and other drinks containing alcohol when he passed sentence several days ago on Frank Stephens, 16, who admitted he had written an extortion note to the mother of Shirley Temple. Stephens told the court he was employed at a local beer and wine parlor.

Following this revelation, Alderman I. Glor Hail, ninth ward, presented in city council an ordinance to bar the employment of minors in such places and has announced he will pursue the matter until he is successful in forcing passage of the measure.

Indications that the public safety committee will back Sturdivant in his latest move—shown by the following comment of members of that body: Reynolds, chairman: "We propose to take the entire matter up at tomorrow night's meeting and dispose of it. I do not think I should make any statement prior to the committee's meeting."

To Back Chief
Councilman Howard Haire: "I heartily agree with Chief Sturdivant in his proposal to stop the sale of illegal wines. In many places where such wines are sold, proprietors have shown they have no regard for law and order, and use no discretion in selling to minors. Investigation of our police records will show plainly that a number of automobile accidents, disorders, stabbings and murders are traceable to intoxication by high alcoholic content wines. I will back the chief in wiping out this definite source of crime."

Councilman Cecil W. Hester: "I will support the law, and will back Chief Sturdivant in enforcing it."

Councilman Walter M. Sutton: "The matter will be thrashed out fully

SHIPBUILDING PLAN ADOPTED BY CHINA

Protection Against Foreign Powers Sought by Government.

NANKING, China, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Saddled with treaties forcing her to share with foreign powers her inland navigation rights, China is adopting a policy of direct subsidy for ship construction.

The step is the first move in a campaign aimed intentionally at ridding her rivers and coastal waters of vessels flying British, Japanese, Dutch and American flags.

All of China's foreign trade and much of her coastwise and river commerce is carried in foreign ships. China's international treaties open her inland waters to foreign vessels, but they do not restrict in any way navigation by Chinese ships.

Foreign shipping companies have prospered, while native concerns have fared comparatively poorly. Better ships, more experienced officers and more efficient shore organizations have built for the foreign shipping companies reputations which even "patronize home industries" and other nationalistic movements have failed to break down.

During the last few years, however, Chinese shipping concerns controlled by the government have attempted to win a larger portion of coastwise and river trade by buying vessels from abroad, raising standards of seamanship and developing new lines.

at tomorrow night's meeting of the committee. I propose to back the chief in enforcing the law. It should have been done all along."

Alderman John W. Ball Jr.: "If Chief Sturdivant wants to enforce the law, I'm for him. I'll back him to the limit and there'll be no equivocation about how I stand."

Sturdivant Statement.
Full text of Sturdivant's statement regarding the matter follows:

"An investigation I have conducted since the statements from the bench by Federal District Judge E. Marvin Underwood regarding the sale of beer and wine in the city of Atlanta by minors and the conditions I have found to exist in many of the retail establishments where foreign wines with a high alcoholic content are being sold, have convinced me the Atlanta police department must immediately begin a rigid enforcement of the 1935 state of Georgia wine act.

"The state of Georgia law is very explicit. Only wines made from Georgia-grown fruits and berries by wineries in the state may be sold. Natural fermentation only is permitted. Not only should this great Georgia industry be fostered but foreign wines should be barred under this law in the interests of law and order.

"I propose to put an end to the conditions which now exist in the city of Atlanta and tonight shall ask the public safety committee to approve my plans for an immediate stopping of such sales under penalty of prosecution and revocation to sell beer and wine in the city of Atlanta.

Time To Clear Stocks.
"I plan to give all retailers until November 1, 1936, to clear their stocks. After that date I propose to make arrests and to confiscate the illegal beverages found. Upon a second case being made against any retailer, I shall request that the retailer's license be revoked.

"Some of the retailers now are selling illegal wines with an alcoholic content which equals 40 or better proof, or one-half as much alcoholic content as the whiskey and gins being sold under the twenty-first amendment to the federal constitution, more than enough to become intoxicating at, from 25 cents to 50 cents a bottle.

"I believe with this action by the Atlanta police department, that disorder and conditions now complained of will cease, and that the complaints of citizens living near sandwich stands which sell beer and wines will be reduced to a minimum."

"INDEPENDENT" CANDIDATES.
VALDOSTA, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—For the first time in 20 years, candidates listed as "independent" will appear on the November 3 general election ballot. The two "independent" candidates are Gordon Tillman and Silas Bacon, seeking the office of county surveyor. Tillman is now surveyor but neither man entered the spring primary so under the law they are recorded as "independents."

THIS IS THE Magic Voice

After lengthy study of the "boom" and the false noises which often have marred radio performance, radio engineers developed for RCA Victor an entirely new sound system. They invented TONE PIPES. Five of these, of carefully calculated size, are built into a unique Tone Chamber behind the speaker of each Magic Voice radio... Then the Tone Chamber is acoustically sealed. This construction directs all sound forward. And the sound is true, natural, real, because the TONE PIPES and the sealed Tone Chamber prevent echoing and bouncing of notes off the wall behind the set. Thus the Magic Voice is the Magic Brain given a new beauty. It is radio as you have wished it might be, but have never heard before.

CHAIRMEN ARE NAMED
IN ROOSEVELT DRIVEGood Work Being Done
Over State for Party,
Dorsey Reports.

As contributions to the campaign fund of President Roosevelt continued to come in, Cam D. Dorsey, state financial director of the Roosevelt electors, yesterday announced "good work is being done in all counties by the county chairmen and their organizations."

He issued a list of county and district chairmen in charge of the organizations in Georgia and declared that many have already wired him their quotas will be easy to reach. Some have already reported subscriptions over the quotas, he said.

A number of large donations have been received by J. P. Allen Sr., chairman of the Fulton financial committee, it was announced yesterday. Chairman Allen is mapping a final drive which will put Fulton "over the top" before election day.

Director Dorsey said yesterday that his organization, the state financial committee of the Democratic National Committee, is not sponsoring the sale of Roosevelt books and stickers and that those who wish to contribute to this fund should send in donations to headquarters at 512 Henry Grady hotel or to the authorized solicitors of the committee.

He conferred yesterday with R. E. Clarke, of New York, divisional representative of the finance committee of the Democratic national committee. Clarke praised the work being done in Georgia and complimented Dorsey for the success of the campaign in the state thus far.

TWO HOMES IN DEKALB
LOOTED BY BURGLARS

Burglars entered the home of Arthur S. Hatcher, of 822 Oakdale road, during the absence of the family yesterday, ate and drank their fill from the family icebox, and then ransacked the home, taking clothing and other things valued at $200, DeKalb county police were told yesterday.

The home of William Wilson, of 425 Ridgecrest road, N. E., was entered, while the family was away and the intruders, after removing bullets from an automatic pistol they found, ransacked the house, DeKalb police said.

BRITISH PAPER 'KILLS'
ROYAL ROMANCE STORY

against the possibility the king's American-born friend might secure her divorce ahead of schedule.

King Edward left Sandringham tonight, presumably for London after the royal shooting party was concluded. His guests had luncheon at the home of a tenant farmer. During a pause in the shooting the king produced his camera and snapped the party. Then he handed the camera to a guest and asked him to photograph the group with himself included.

The News-Chronicle did not mention Mrs. Simpson's name. It gently disabused an idea popular in Britain that the English constitution forbids the monarch marrying a commoner if he chooses. The story, "peppered" on a story that insurance rates against postponement of the king's coronation were rising, said:

"It appears believed in many quarters that the king needs the consent of the privy council before he could marry, or at least before he could marry a commoner. This is not so.

"The law in England imposes only one limitation on the marriage of the sovereign. Under the act of settlement of 1701 he may not marry a Roman Catholic without forfeiting his throne. The royal marriage act of 1772 declares that no member of the royal family may marry either royalty or commoner without the consent of the sovereign, but the sovereign himself may marry whom he pleases, provided that his wife is not a Roman Catholic."

Mrs. Simpson would be opposed to marrying King Edward "under existing conditions," her friends said. They said she is proud of the king's position and the admiration in which his subjects hold him and would be the last person knowingly to embarrass the throne.

The points, out that her position as a close friend of the king would be socially superior to that of a morganatic wife.

KING WILL NOT WED WALLY, WRITER SAYS

By ELSPETH HUXLEY.

(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(UP)—King Edward is too keen a judge of public opinion ever to marry Mrs. Ernest Simpson, in my opinion.

I think he is as careful a student of public reaction as President Roosevelt and both of them are excellent judges of mass opinion.

If the king should contract a morganatic marriage with Mrs. Simpson, I believe he would antagonize much of the British public. The reaction against such a marriage, in my opinion, would be even more pronounced in the colonies and the dominions than in the British Isles.

Should the king fly in the face of public opinion—and this is extremely unlikely—I think that the worst thing that could happen to him would be serious damage to the prestige of the crown. He would not go so far as to abdicate.

There is no solid opinion about Mrs. Simpson in England. Different persons think different things about it just as they do about all other matters. I would say that the British are divided in this way:

1. The upper classes are disturbed and upset but they are very loyal to the crown and would support the king no matter what happens.

2. The working class has a strong affection for the king and is inclined to feel his private life is his own affair.

3. The middle classes—professional people and small shopkeepers—are the ones most likely to resent Mrs. Simpson. They are staunch supporters of the Church of England—the people who had such a strong attachment to the late King George and Queen Mary.

If it is possible to divide this opinion still finer, I would say—as a general rule—that the younger people are unconcerned about Mrs. Simpson while the older ones worry about her.

What about Mr. Ernest Simpson? I do not believe the matter will affect him much, certainly it will not damage him in a business way. Among his friends, I should say that there will be a conspiracy of silence to save him any possible embarrassment.

UNIVERSITY HONORS NOTED CHURCHMAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Vatican secretary of state, rounded out a busy Washington schedule here today by attending ceremonies at Georgetown University at which he was awarded the degree of doctor of canon and civil laws.

For those who expected some indication that his visit to the capital might be more than a vacation and good-will jaunt, the cardinal's activities proved a disappointment.

It had been hinted that the cardinal planned to seek re-establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Vatican.

There was nothing in Cardinal Pacelli's program here today to bear out these rumors, but he may return later.

The day opened with an address to students and faculty of Catholic University, in which he said that "Catholic University was founded on the fact that harmony exists between the faith and science, between the natural and the supernatural." He delighted his audience by declaring the day a holiday for all students.

LONG-DELAYED RAIN EXPECTED HERE TODAY

Those long delayed showers that have been looming on the weather bureau's horizon for the last two days will be here positively this morning, it was announced yesterday.

Cooler weather is expected to accompany the scattered rainfall, according to George W. Mindling, chief forecaster. No cold weather, however, is in sight for Atlanta, he added.

Yesterday the mercury climbed from 65 to 81 degrees, the highest point being at 1 p. m. Today the climb will be from 58 to 68 degrees.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Guaranteed

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

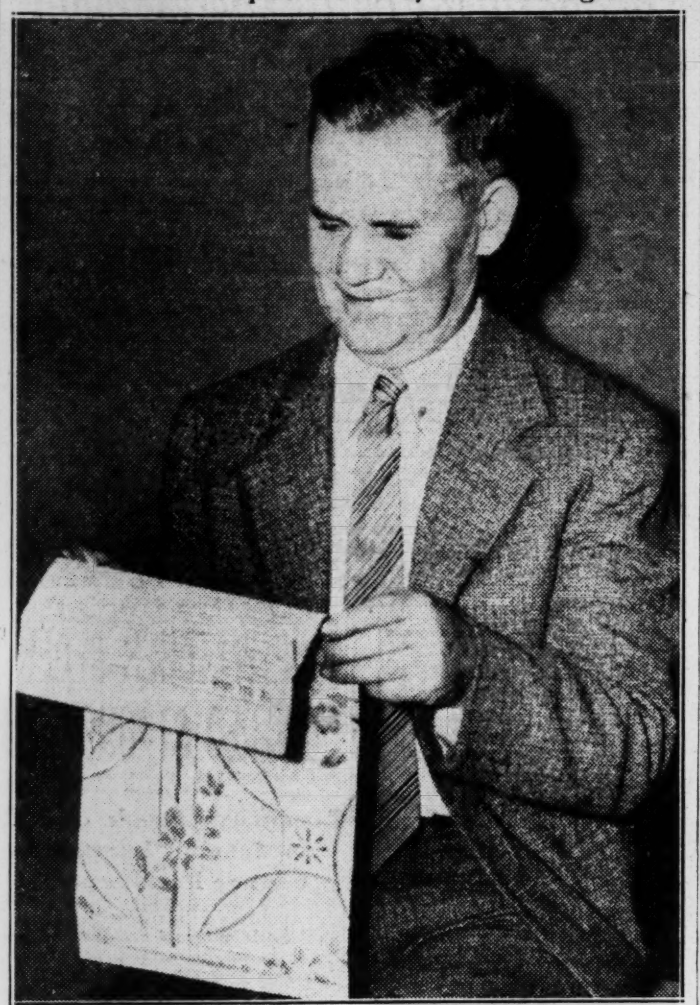

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give lasting relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used.

H.E.M.-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Jacobs Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try H.E.M.-ROID with guarantee of money back if not perfectly satisfied with the help one bottle gives.—(adv.)

73-Year-Old Paper Tells of Vicksburg's Fall

Charles Boyd, of 453 Calhoun street, with his copy of "The Daily Citizen" of Vicksburg, Miss., printed on wallpaper by "Yankee printers," after Vicksburg had fallen before the federal armies on July 4, 1863. The "Yankee printers" printed the paper from type found already set in the office of the publication when the city fell before its besiegers. Staff photo by H. J. Slayton.

Rare Copy of 'Wall Paper Citizen' Recalls Vicksburg's Siege, Fall

Newspaper of 1863, Prepared by Dauntless Southerner and Printed by Yankees, Brought to Light Here; One of Three Known to Exist.

J. M. Swords, proprietor of "The Daily Citizen" of Vicksburg, Miss., was hand-setting the type for his edition of July 2, 1863. It was a Thursday.

Outside his printery could be heard the roar of the guns of the federal troops, formed in unbreakable ring about the city. For Vicksburg was in a state of siege. The defenders hoped for relief, but in the meantime lived as best they might on limited rations of corn meal and an occasional ration of a little mule meat.

Their spirit, though, was unbroken. Copy in Atlanta.

Yesterday, a copy of that issue of "The Daily Citizen," was brought to The Constitution office by Charles Boyd, of 453 Calhoun street, Atlanta, who told how he had bought it, in 1902, from a Confederate veteran he met in the Georgia state capital. At that time Mr. Boyd was a boy of 14.

The veteran had only three copies of the old paper and, as far as Mr. Boyd knows, they are the only three in existence.

The paper was printed on the back of wallpaper, the only paper good Editor Swords could find.

And, despite the bravery of his column, stating it had been printed on July 4, two days after date of issue by "Yankee printers" who found the type standing when the besiegers entered the city in triumph, and ran off a few as the last "Wallpaper Citizen," just for the curiosity of it!

Porter's Siege.

On July 2, Editor Swords had written, and printed the following comment:

"Porter is enjoying a season of rest and his men are doubtless obliged to him for his kind consideration of their welfare. On Tuesday he fired a few shells from his parrots, and kept his men tolerably busy sharp-shooting across the river, with no other result than might be expected. Poor fool, he might as well give up the vain aspiration he entertains of capturing our city or exterminating our people, and return to his master to receive the reward such a gasconading dolt will meet at the hands of the unappreciating government at Washington."

And, under date of July 4, is the footnote appended by the invading Yankees, as follows:

Vicksburg Captured.

"Two days brings about great changes. The banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg. Gen. Grant has 'caught the rabbit'; he has dined in Vicksburg, and he did bring his dinner with him. The 'Citizen' lives to see it. For the last time it appears on 'wallpaper.' No more will it eulogize the luxury of mule meat and fricasseed kitten—urge southern warriors to such diet no more. This is the last wallpaper Citizen, and, excepting this note, from the types as we 'Yankee printers' found them. Copies will be valuable in years to come as a curiosity."

Mr. Boyd said a copy of the last edition of "The Daily Citizen," printed on wallpaper with a red design, and printed July 2, 1863, is to be seen in the Mississippi state capitol today at Jackson.

His copy, however, is two days later than the "last edition." It is printed on wallpaper with a blue design, and it carries the strange footnote, appended by the "Yankee printers."

miles away, I say 'Okay, kid, you win. You won't get any argument from me.'"

"I'm afraid there are too many of our people who don't comprehend just what a billion dollars means. If you were to put away one dollar every minute from the time Christ died on Calvary you'd only have a billion dollars."

"Suppose," he said, "for the sake of argument, that you were going to pay the present debt of the United States. What is it? You heard how long it took to get one billion together. Well, the present debt of the United States is $34,000,000,000. That is what we owe—you, everybody."

"But suppose we started to pay it back at the rate of one dollar a minute, how long do you think it would take to pay it? It would just take 65,000 years."

"When I hear this talk about soaking the rich, if we took all the rich men in the country and stood them on their heads and took everything away from them including their undershirt, you could not begin to pay any part of it."

We Will Pay.

"It is going to be paid by the rank and file. Now, who says that? Does that come from me? I will show you who that comes from. At Pittsburgh, about a week ago, the President was making a speech and he spoke about debt and he referred to the debt as the crushing load. That is his exact words, a crushing load. We know that. Here is how he says it is going to be paid; it is going to be paid out of an increased national income, an increased individual income produced by national prosperity."

"Now I analyzed that for myself the other day and I tried to reduce it down to the simple language of the sidewalk, and it means this, the more you make, the more we take."

He said he did not believe the "New Deal friends" had an understanding of what two billion dollars meant.

Referring to President Roosevelt's recent statement that the bonus "payment is now out of the way," he said:

"We borrowed the money and we owe it. 'It cannot possibly be out of the way; it cannot possibly be no longer an obligation. Not only do we owe it, but at 2 per cent we are going to pay $300,000,000 a year interest on it. 'Where will this borrowing eventually lead us to?'

We're At Poor House.

"Where are we going to wind up? We have not only the $34,000,000,000 debt, but we are going to have to borrow some more. Any government, like any family, can for a year spend a little more than it earns, but you and I know that a continuation of that habit means the poorhouse. That was said by the President on July 30, in the city of Albany, in 1932. I submit we are already there."

He said talk about fiscal conditions being all right, "if it were not for relief," was just a "catch-phrase because it is intended to make everybody believe that the money we are spending and the money we are borrowing are intended to relieve distress."

"Nobody is against that," he said. "If that money went for nothing else except the relief of distress, I would be ready to say 'go to the limit.' He then launched into a discussion of where the money was being spent by the government.

The audience booed when he mentioned the name of Rexford G. Tugwell, head of the Resettlement Administration, declaring that Tugwell got $260,746,263 to carry out "some crack-pot schemes about moving people from Japanese Boat Reported To Have Foundered.

TOKYO, Oct. 23.—(Friday)—(AP)—Thirty-five persons were reported drowned today off Rumoi, Hokkaido island, when the salvage boat Dura Maru foundered in a storm.

The vessel Aikoku Maru, which the salvage ship was towing to Kobe, also was missing.

The Japanese freighter Manyo Maru, an 11,000-ton vessel which was fully loaded, crashed on rocks while battling high seas near Maru, Hokkaido island. Rescue boats put out in an attempt to save the crew of 45 but were unable to reach the ship immediately.

LANDON REFUTED

Union Chief Denies Kansan Ever Paid Top Wage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Harvey C. Fremming, president of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers, today disputed a statement he attributed to the Republican national committee that Governor Landon "has always paid top spot wages."

Labor's Non-Partisan League quoted Fremming as commenting in a telephone conversation from Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"Governor Landon has not paid top wages and does not now pay top wages."

EX-BUDGET DIRECTOR

TO VOTE FOR LANDON

BREWSTER, N. Y., Oct. 22.—(U.P.)—Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget in the Roosevelt administration, announced tonight he would vote for Governor Alf M. Landon for president.

"The record shows," Douglas said, "that the actual administration of New Deal policies is frivolous and irresponsible and that the defense of its acts is evasive and ambiguous."

"This record does violence to the traditional principles and practices of American government. It has outraged the historic beliefs and the 1932 promises of the Democratic party. I have always been a member of that party. But its substance has been corrupted; its virtue has been violated. To support it now is to dishonor the deep convictions of a lifetime. I will go to the polls to express my opposition to the New Deal by voting for Mr. Landon."

Douglas resigned as director of the budget when he found himself in disagreement with Mr. Roosevelt's monetary policies, particularly devaluation of the dollar and the relief spending program.

ROOSEVELT VICTORY CERTAIN, SAYS RIVERS

the latter is the No. 1 citizen of the central section of the state. They are giving everything they have in the sections where they are strongest.

United for President.

A situation similar to that in Ohio is to be found in Indiana, where local leaders are not crazy about each other but are united in their effort to aid the President, Mr. Rivers said.

Sensors Van Nuys and Minton as well as Governor McNutt are campaigning their own and near-by states in behalf of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, forgetting their past differences in state politics.

Mr. Rivers said he had spent only a short time in Illinois, but declared he is confident that any small majority the Republicans may roll up in downstate Illinois will be easily overcome by the more than 200,000 majority the Kelly-Nash organization will deliver in Chicago.

Missouri Safe.

"Both St. Louis and Kansas City are strongly Democratic," the Georgian declared. "Although Kansas City is only about 50 miles from Governor Landon's own city of Topeka, it will give Roosevelt a majority of upwards of 75,000 votes. St. Louis will add 50,000 more and over the state the majority will run between 75,000 and 100,000."

Mr. Rivers said he had not been in Kansas, but he did half an hour after returning to his room. He never regained consciousness.

Must Name Successor.

The vacancy left in the senate by Couzens' death will be filled by appointment by Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald, the appointee to serve until the new elective term starts in January.

Speculation in the Michigan capital centered about Wilber M. Brucker, former governor who defeated Couzens in the primary; former Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck who first appointed Couzens to the senate; former Governor Fred Green, or some member of the Couzens family.

Couzens' early association in Ford's motor enterprise, which prospered under what an associate described as Couzens' "hard-headed financial management," laid the basis for his personal fortune. He was one of the wealthiest men in the United States senate.

He disagreed with Ford over policies in 1915, and resigned, later selling his interest in the company to Henry and Edsel Ford for nearly $30,000,000.

$20,000,000 to Charity.

Couzens' charitable benefactions, principally in behalf of unfortunate children, were estimated to total more than $20,000,000, including a $10,000,000 trust fund established in 1929 with a stipulation that it must be spent within 25 years for the health and happiness of children in Michigan and elsewhere.

Outspoken in his opinions and independent in his political actions, Couzens alienated many leaders of the Republican party. He was appointed to the senate in 1922 to succeed Truman H. Newberry, and was re-elected on the Republican ticket in 1924 and again in 1930.

He gave his support to many legislative proposals of the Roosevelt administration, but turned down invitations to campaign for re-election this year on that ticket. He entered the Republican party, but less than a month before the election, announced he would take any party which would support the Roosevelt administration.

The Georgia nominee speaks Saturday night at a southern Indiana district rally at Evansville, and from there moves back into Ohio, where he will spend the remaining days of the campaign.

struction developed, today's operation was decided upon.

Couzens was in the operating room for an hour, and drainage was established, but he died half an hour after returning to his room. He never regained consciousness.

Must Name Successor.

The vacancy left in the senate by Couzens' death will be filled by appointment by Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald, the appointee to serve until the new elective term starts in January.

Speculation in the Michigan capital centered about Wilber M. Brucker, former governor who defeated Couzens in the primary; former Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck who first appointed Couzens to the senate; former Governor Fred Green, or some member of the Couzens family.

Couzens' early association in Ford's motor enterprise, which prospered under what an associate described as Couzens' "hard-headed financial management," laid the basis for his personal fortune. He was one of the wealthiest men in the United States senate.

He disagreed with Ford over policies in 1915, and resigned, later selling his interest in the company to Henry and Edsel Ford for nearly $30,000,000.

ROOSEVELT TERMS DEATH A GREAT LOSS

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(P)—President Roosevelt, informed of the death of Senator James Couzens, tonight said the nation has lost a leader whose courage was a match for his idealism.

The text of the Roosevelt statement:

"In the death of Senator Couzens, the senate of the United States and the people of Michigan and the nation have lost a leader whose convictions were a part of the best that America aspires for and whose courage was a match for his idealism.

"Senator Couzens did not enter public life because he sought either fame or power, but rather because of a service he believed he could render to the cause of progressive thought and political uprightness. He was a party member. But his prior obligation was to the well-being of the people whom he served. He never hesitated in that service.

"The death of Senator Couzens to me is a great loss. But, more than that, it is a great loss to the multitudes of Americans whose needs and problems were always in the forefront of his thought and action."

as a member of the United States senate since 1922."

Other comment included: "The passing of Senator Couzens came to me as a tremendous personal shock. He possessed an independence and a breadth of vision that made him outstanding in the public life of his day. His death will be a loss to his country but his work and influence will long remain."

Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator: "The state of Michigan and the nation have lost a great humanitarian in the death of Senator Couzens."

FARLEY MOURNS DEATH OF REPUBLICAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(P)—Democratic Chairman James A. Farley said "The whole nation must mourn the death of Senator Couzens."

ROBINSON PRAISES COUZENS FOR COURAGE

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 22.—(P)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, majority floor leader of the senate, informed here tonight of the death of Senator James Couzens, declared the Michigan senator had displayed "notable energy and courage" while a member of congress and said his death was a great loss to the public.

His statement follows:

"Friends of Senator Couzens have known of his illness and have for some time regarded his condition as very serious. When in Detroit a few days ago I was informed that the senator was improving. In his service in the senate, Mr. Couzens demonstrated notable energy and courage. He was one of the best-informed members of the finance committee and enjoyed the confidence and admiration of his colleagues. I regard his departure as a great loss to the public."

At Bridgeport, where the cars went up a hill to bring the President to a spot arranged for a speech, shouting crowds were out of hand, pressing against the autos, running the cars, and jumping onto the running boards.

The cars crept through teeming downtown streets in Stamford, according to being stopped. But there was trouble at the station, where children were trampled by adults seeking to see the chief executive.

In midmorning the President had started out in Hartford by telling crowds gathered in Bushell Park:

"I am glad that prosperity is back with us again and believe me, it's going to stay. And on November 3, the third of November sometime in the evening I'm going to get a telegram telling me the state of Connecticut is in the Democratic column."

He said that it was a "happier Connecticut than I came to in 1932."

Four times the President addressed shouting audiences before stopping to deliver his address to the people.

Afterward, he spoke again from the New Haven green.

Repeatedly along the way he spoke of "prosperity. At Waterbury, in a park thickly packed with people, he said also that for three and a half years the administration had been seeking greater "security" for the nation.

Have Made Progress.

"I believe we have been making progress and that we are doing more," he added as a cheer rose from the crowd.

A bit earlier in Meriden he had said that judging from all he had heard, "the greatest silverware center of the world is better off" than it was four years ago.

He said, too, that the administration, with "some success," had been trying to end the depression and bring prosperity back, and that it was trying especially "to make it a permanent prosperity."

Children with fluttering flags and shrill voices stood in front of nearly every school passed by the caravan of official cars. At several places the chief executive streamed along the streets, and dashed through the procession of autos, risking injury and shattering the nerves of the drivers.

But for the most part, state motorcycle police, local officers and na-

Cameraman Stands on Hill As Spanish Insurgents Capture Navalcarnero

(Editor's note: A famous cameraman-reporter, on assignment in Spain, describes here the capture of Navalcarnero, one of the last Loyalist strongholds before Madrid.)

By JAMES ABBÉ.

(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

TALAVERA, Spain, Oct. 22.—(By Wire)—From a hill one kilometer west of Navalcarnero, I witnessed and photographed the capture of that Loyalist stronghold by the insurgents in their relentless drive on Madrid.

Successfully dodging Loyalist bullets, I watched the insurgents in open formation enter the town of Navalcarnero, while the government defenders stubbornly and foolishly resisted with the setting sun in their eyes. As I left the scene, rifles were popping incessantly in the streets and the doors were repulsing flank attacks.

A Loyalist observation balloon was brought down by the insurgents, and airplanes bombed the retreating government forces. The capture of Navalcarnero presumably liquidates the most important, and perhaps the last, government stronghold before Madrid.

Against a cloudless azure sky, it was a picture never to be forgotten as the perfectly organized truck caravan of supplies and fresh troops filled the right side of the perfect road undulating from Valmojado to Navalcarnero. The broadcasting tower of Madrid, some 15 miles beyond, were faintly visible with glasses.

Government airplanes conducted a bombing raid on Valmojado without serious damage, children playing noisily in the streets 20 minutes later.

Not only the Germans, but also the Italian pilots fighting for the Spanish Fascists wear their own uniforms, which they do not change.

He refrained from bombing insurgent munitions vessels, he said, for fear of hitting German warships which were conveying them and thus causing "grave international trouble."

ARGENTINA DEMANDS PROTECTION IN MADRID

PARIS, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Argentina bluntly warned the Madrid government today that she would break off diplomatic relations unless her nationals were safely removed from the Argentine and Uruguayan embassies in Madrid, and at the same time arranged with France for the evacuation.

Argentina demanded an immediate reply. Carlos Saavedra Lamas, Argentine foreign minister now here, telephoned the ultimatum to Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, Spanish foreign minister. Argentine circles expected the reply to be favorable.

NAZIS REPORT STALIN ORDERS AID TO MADRID

Berlin Feels It Would Gain If Moscow Bolts Neutrality.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—(UP)—The newspaper Nacht-Ausgabe today placed a headline reading "Open Assistance in War by Soviets Jeopardizes European Peace," over a dispatch from Paris announcing Joseph Stalin had ordered Russian military assistance for the Madrid government.

The headline, it was believed, indicates the feeling in Germany in regard to a situation which may arise should Russia openly intervene in the Spanish civil war. It is assumed in the western world that Russia on Friday will announce her withdrawal from the Spanish non-intervention committee meeting in London.

Such action by Russia would not be welcome in German political quarters, from one viewpoint, for it would point Russia as a disturber of European peace. Russia would be burdened with the whole responsibility for failure of the non-intervention committee, and thus would estrange France and Great Britain by a rupture with the neutrality committee.

This, it was believed, would confer a big tactical advantage upon Germany in her diplomatic tug of war with Russia. Possibly it would help Germany in her desire to break up the Franco-Soviet pact.

It was recalled that the German press from the outset severely criticized France's non-intervention policy. Germany's fairly early departure from the neutrality pact proposed by the western powers was due to a desire to proceed with an accord with France and Britain, rather than approval of the neutrality policy as practiced by France.

NAZIS SERVE FASCISTS OPENLY, BRITON SAYS

Student, a Loyalist Ace, Says German Planes Don't Hide Swastikas

NORTHWICH, England, Oct. 22.—(P)—An English college student, who has been a bombing pilot for the Spanish government during the civil war, told the press associations tonight German officers flying for the Spanish fascists "don't even take the trouble to hide their swastika badge."

The student, John Wilson, who was visiting his fiancée here for a few days before returning to the Spanish war front, left the University of Liverpool to go to Spain, where he said he had been flying for 11 weeks.

Nearly all the Spanish Fascist planes, he declared, were painted with Italian makes, but he told of bringing down one insurgent machine which he said was of recent British manufacture.

Not only the Germans, but also the Italian pilots fighting for the Spanish Fascists wear their own uniforms, which they do not change.

He refrained from bombing insurgent munitions vessels, he said, for fear of hitting German warships which were conveying them and thus causing "grave international trouble."

GAMUT OF SWINDLES WAS RUN BY BRADLEY

lutions to one successful effort that merely meant talking a man out of some stock that he owned with very little effort.

Smith Indicted.
Indicted with Bradley in the Pittsburgh bunco game that cost the life of the victim's wife is W. Clyde Smith, well known in Atlanta and also a fugitive from this city as a bond-jumper in a mail fraud case.

Bradley's life since he left Atlanta hurriedly has followed Washington, D. C., according to Inspector Jervey, who trailed him so successfully that Bradley, himself, has admitted that he gave up because he knew that Jervey would get him sooner or later.

Five filing cabinets in Jervey's office contain the story of Bradley's life, the information starting back with the appearance of Bradley as an infant in arms in Birmingham, Ala., where he went through grade school and high school with Floyd Woodward and Ed Ellis, who were to become so well known in Atlanta in later years through their bunco operations that they were turned up by Solicitor General John Boykin about 15 years ago.

Stock Sold.
Jervey's records on Bradley shows two months after the collapse of the American Bond and Share Corporation and Bradley's disappearance, securities amounting to $2,139.75 were delivered to the manager of a large New York hotel by one of his guests, "who had to leave town for a few days and would be out of touch with the market and wanted them sold during his absence." The manager sold them and turned over the check to the guest. The postal authorities discovered the sale and identified the securities as some of the missing assets of the American Bond and Share Corporation.

The $2,139.75 check was made payable to Benjamin R. Bailey, in keeping with the instructions left for the hotel manager by the guest and when postal authorities examined the check, the handwriting was discovered to be that of R. Bradley. In fact, he had started to write Bradley, instead of Bailey, as the indorsement, and had erased and smeared this and wrote "Benjamin R. Bailey."

More securities in negotiable form, also missing assets of the company, were cashed in New York in July, 1935, by another person who has never been traced.

Restaurant Venture.
Bradley's next appearance was in October, 1935, when, using the name of Jackson M. Ballard, he laid plans to open a "Golden Fried Chicken—and hold up this information until Stoner, a salaried city employee, could place his bets.

They took all Stoner's money—$2,000—after letting him win $100 the first day. Then, he went back to his home in Harrisburg, mortgaged his home, and returned with that money in hopes of recouping his losses. In a short time he had lost that, the total being $4,000. When his wife learned of the swindle, said Stoner, she was broken-hearted and died within a few weeks. She had been an invalid and was planning to use the "winnings" to go to the Mayo Brothers' sanitarium to which her health. Today she is dead and Bradley is back in Atlanta, while Pittsburgh is hunting for him.

Large Crowd Present.
The pleading of Bradley before Judge Underwood yesterday was simple, a source of disappointment to a large crowd that followed the spectacular trial of Robert E. Lee, the "Earl of Pelham," and gathered yesterday for more fireworks.

Bradley was asked if he was guilty or not guilty.
"I am guilty, your honor," he said, bowing to Judge Underwood.

Later Bradley said that he was not actually guilty of a crime.
"Others have done and are doing the same thing," he said.

"Why did you plead guilty?"
"Well, he shrugged his shoulders and smiled. 'I was technically guilty.'"

Probation Officer R. A. Chappell is investigating Bradley's entire life to prepare a report for Judge Underwood, which the judge will study carefully in determining the severity of the sentence.

Although Bradley had been accused in a 47-count indictment, his pleading was made to 38 counts. This was because of changes in the original indictment by District Attorney Lawrence S. Camp, and to a subsequent to the trial of Robert Lee and William Smith on the same indictment this spring.

INSURGENTS GAINING IN FIGHT FOR MADRID

guns pounded scattered government resistance in El Escorial sector as military leaders stood on the heights outside the strategic city and gazed at Madrid in the distance.

New Military Chief.
Government defenders were making the Fascist fight increasingly difficult by throwing up entrenchments in the mountainous terrain.

Within Madrid, leaders installed a new supreme military chief and rushed a militia reserve army of 100,000 men to the front.

General Jose Asensio was relieved of command of government forces in the Madrid area, and the new General Sebastian Pozas was put in his place.

Zupkoff in Jail.
In that case, Bradley, Smith and Zupkoff, the successor in the "fried chicken" venture in Philadelphia, were identified by Charles Stoner, the successful attempt to halt the Fascist Madrid attack.

The workers' reserve corps was to be used as a second line to bolster the retreating militia.

One of the first government objectives was announced as the recapture of Navalcarnero, although counterattacks were planned on all Madrid sectors.

Pontons Across River.
Insurgent engineers had their work cut out for them, throwing pontons across streams where bridges were blown up by the government in retreat.

Trucksloads of pontons were brought up to permit future crossings of the Guadarrama river. Its main bridges were dynamited by Madrid defenders.

Fascist field headquarters were pushed from one sector to another, keeping up with the motorized advances.

The base of the Insurgent General Varela was less than 20 miles from Madrid. From the heights near it, the twinkling lights of the besieged city could be seen in the night.

Branching off from the Navalcarnero-Madrid highway to clear the way for a juncture with comrades at El Escorial, another column of Fascists fought through cross-country to Villanueva, five miles west of Navalcarnero.

In the northern coastal sector near France, Carlists were reported to have fought in the streets of San Sebastian with other insurgent elements.

As the roar of insurgent cannonading echoed over Madrid, women and children renewed their campaigns for more civilian volunteers to go to the front.

Train Holds Out.
They roamed in bands throughout the streets, calling upon all able-bodied men to lay down their saws for rifles.

"It is better to be heroes' widows than cowards' wives," the women screamed.

At the head of one recruiting column was "La Pasionaria," the woman Communist deputy who early in the civil war went to France to appeal against a neutrality accord among European powers.

The crew of a government armored train was still holding out against insurgent forces, which trapped it in a tunnel under the Obidra range.

Machine gunners were posted at either entrance to the tunnel, and tracks were ripped up to prevent the train from ploughing through its besiegers.

It was reported that 60 men were trapped in the train which once in a munition at Arenys Del Mar, near Barcelona, September 2.

2. On September 12 a train arrived at Madrid from Barcelona loaded with 60 anti-aircraft guns, machine guns and bayonets and Russian manufacture.

3. Barcelona reported on September 15 that 37 Russian airplanes landed at the Spanish port the week previously and that 30 Russian pilots arrived from Barcelona.

4. Four Russian Gorki bombers are stationed at Getafe airport outside Madrid.

5. The British vessel Bramhill October 2 unloaded at Alicante 950 tons of war materials in crates labeled with Russian characters.

6. The Soviet ship Neva arrived at Alicante September 25 with a cargo of arms, munitions and hides, all described as foodstuffs, and with 12 Russian pilots aboard, who left for Madrid.

7. The Soviet vessel Kuban anchored at Alicante October 4 carrying munitions and foodstuffs.

8. The Soviet steamer Komsovol October 16 disembarked at Cartagena 50 tanks and accessories and 54 operators for the tanks.

The note finally cited that Barcelona and Moscow radiocasts gave evidence that Russia was helping the Madrid regime.

Regarding Spain, Germany charged Madrid with a "deliberate attempt to mislead" foreign governments by including in Spanish official diplomatic material submitted to the non-intervention committee, a photograph presumably showing Spanish rebels painting over a swastika emblem on a German airplane. The German note insisted that the picture actually shows Loyalist militiamen dabbling with paint over the swastika on a Junkers plane "illegally held in Madrid."

BOLT BY MOSCOW BELIEVED UNLIKELY
Oct. 22.—(AP)—France—British pressure may prevent Russia from making an immediate bolt from the "hands-off-Spain" committee, informed sources said tonight.

These persons cited five reasons for predicting a "second thought" delay in departing from the non-intervention committee at its meeting in London tomorrow.

1. Developments indicate the British may be forced to take a firmer stand toward France in the neutralization of France.

2. France is believed to have told Moscow to go slow if it does not want to alienate the two powerful European democracies, England and France, who are not yet prepared to act in the Spanish question.

3. Reports from Spain indicate that even if Madrid falls, the government cause is not lost because government leaders can retire to Barcelona, solidify their defense, and hold out indefinitely.

4. Foreign Commissioner Maxim Litvinoff brought further counsel to bear here to slow up those who wanted to start helping Madrid immediately.

5. The government has discovered it would not be wise to emulate Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini by walking out of a meeting in which they still desired to have a voice in order to denounce alleged Fascist neutrality violations.

For these reasons, many believed the Soviet spokesmen at London tomorrow would hurl the lie at Germany and call on the Germans to prove their charges that Russia has been sending arms to Madrid disguised as food shipments.

The German charges were rigorous, and here, and the government again declared only food had been sent to Spain.

Opinions of today's observers, it was stressed, were entirely speculative, since the government remained silent on its non-intervention decision.

The French foreign minister, Yvonne Delbos, however, Wednesday told the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies that Premier Von Zeeland, of Belgium, had assured him the king's speech meant no such thing as that Belgium would adhere to her obligations under her pact with France, the Locarno treaty, and the League of Nations covenant.

chief executive, he ought to have full knowledge.

Landon said the Worcester speech "again evaded his questions as to whether President Hoover intends to 'revise the policies of regimentation' and 'to destroy our system of free enterprise and constitutional government.'"

"He has already papered the federal government and would now weaken the people who support it."

"We Republicans believe that, if our form of government is to endure, the budget must be balanced and a 'pay-as-you-go' tax policy adopted. Consequently we shall insist that the waste, incompetence, graft and corruption be eliminated in order to restore a balance between income and outgo."

Landon listened to the President's speech over the radio last night and had a stenographer transcribe it.

Murray, an anti-New Dealer, was scheduled to introduce the Republican nominee to an audience at Oklahoma City tomorrow after boarding the campaign special at El Reno, Okla.

Traveling eastward on his final drive for the presidency, Landon was directed by doctors to rest his throat for strenuous campaigning ahead which includes major addresses at Indianapolis.

What About Catalonia?
"Specifically are you, and we, going to tolerate the erection of a Catalonian republic?" Ciano was said to have asked.

The sources which reported that a far-reaching agreement had been effected by the two representatives asserted it would be revealed in the sentiment of the two countries' representatives at Friday's meeting of the Spanish Non-Intervention Committee in London.

German officials regarded Ciano's visit as most helpful. "It is remarkable," said one, "that when we sit down to talk concretely, how much of a similarity of views and purposes there is between us and Ciano."

Locarno Not Dead.
"Isn't the Locarno pact dead?" this official was asked.

"Oh, no," he replied, "don't jump at such conclusion. Belgium's action in insisting on her independence paved the way for a western pact and the idea may be revived shortly in an entirely new manner."

He declined to divulge further details.

The Locarno pact has been virtually dead since Hitler remilitarized the Rhineland last March, most

DEATH FOR AZANA

Rebel General Decries Spanish President's Doom

GIBRALTAR, Friday, Oct. 23.—(UP)—Rebel General Gonzalo Queipo de Llano today decreed death for President Manuel Azana, of Spain, who left Madrid this week for Barcelona.

"Even if he escapes from Spain he cannot escape from death," Queipo de Llano said, indicating that the Nationalist ultimately would "get" Azana.

Commenting upon Azana's statement in Barcelona in which he allegedly said it would be better to surrender Madrid in order to avoid bloodshed, the Rebel general asked, "Then why resist elsewhere, causing bloodshed?"

Queipo de Llano said an additional 7,000 Rightists, including whole families, were arrested in Madrid as hostages.

INSTALLMENT IX.

"It's pretty late—2 o'clock—"

"Oh, I could dance all night—with my Billkins," she said, reverting playfully to their earlier pretended relationship.

Bill rose to her mood, pinched her cheek and said with mock tenderness: "Oh, no, my Fuzzy-Wuzzy needs her sleep."

She smiled at him flirtatiously. "You're cute when you do that."

Bill ignored that assumption of a tender relationship and completed his sentence: "So I'll say goodnight, Mrs. Chandler." He kissed her hand, surprised a soft look in her eyes, and turned to leave. "I'm out for some air."

"Air?" she repeated with a blank expression. "I can't sleep... Insomnia..." He turned again to go, but stopped to explain: "For three nights I haven't slept."

She advanced eagerly to him. "I can fix that. My father used to be with cologne—like this."

She began to rub his brow sympathetically, a sweet and gentle expression on her face. Bill was uneasy.

"I—"

She stopped the rubbing abruptly. "I'll get the cologne."

No, it's not that kind of insomnia," said Bill and went on in extravagant explanation: "Some people respond to rub-a-dub on the forehead; others drop off to music, but I'm a horse's hoof man—"

He got his hat and moved swiftly towards the door, thinking it high time to make his escape.

"A what?" she said, staring at him. "That's what puts me to sleep—the sound of a horse's hoof thudding on the pavement."

Ten days passed without Haggerty's hearing anything from Bill Chandler and he was fuming with angry impatience, calling every place in New York all his apartment.

He barked into the telephone: "You're sure he's not at the Athletic Club?"

"No, then try the Yale Club," said his secretary.

Allen, his secretary, waited until he hung up. "He's not at his apartment," he said. "Mrs. Chandler just called. She's looking for him, too."

"That was Gladys on the phone. Didn't you tell her I was here?"

"Yes, but she wanted him. She's afraid he's offended at something she said this morning and wants to apologize."

"Gladys wants to apologize?" exclaimed Haggerty unbelievably.

"He was to meet her for lunch but didn't show up. She's afraid there was an accident and wants us to try the morgue."

"She never tried the morgue for me?" said Haggerty amazed at this revelation. "What's going on here?"

"Maybe he's working on the wrong girl," suggested Allen.

"The wrong girl? What are you?"

"He was interrupted by a voice from the telephone asking for the headline, 'Friend kills Seven,' he shouted into it."

"With Haggerty in the title role," came the voice of Bill Chandler who stood in the doorway. He advanced at Haggerty's roving glare. "What's on your mind?"

"What on yours?" demanded Haggerty. "For ten days you haven't seen Connie Allenbury. . . have you?"

"No, I haven't seen her for 10 days. So what? Will you get it through your fat head that I'm working on the wrong girl?"

"Can it, Chandler! I'm no fool. You could see her if you cared to, but you have got other things on your mind. You talked me out of the alienation suit. Now I see why you did it. Pretty soft for you—the paper pays the bill while you concentrate on the wrong girl."

"Just a minute, Haggerty," said Bill, beginning to see light, but he was cut off as the managing editor answered the phone.

"It's for you."

Bill took the phone, listened for a time to an angry female voice. "Sorry, but I was detained. . . I can't. I'm having dinner with my publisher." He listened to another explosion from the receiver, caught Haggerty's face in the mirror watching him, jealousy. The light of a new idea shone in his eyes. He lowered his voice. "I'll be there."

"I'll say one thing for Cousin Joe. When he decides to get drunk, he goes out and does it without first picking a quarrel with his wife to get an excuse for it."

home right after dinner and explain everything. "I can't talk now. . . You know I do. . . of course. . . About ten. Good-by."

"That was Gladys," accused Haggerty. At Bill's nod, he continued: "Why didn't she talk to me?"

"You'll have to take that up with Gladys."

"Don't try to dead-pan me! I want to know what's going on between you and my girl!"

"What did you expect? No man could be around a beautiful girl like Gladys and not fall in love."

Haggerty sprang from his chair. "You dirty double-crosser. . . I should have known you'd cheat!"

"It's your own fault. You threw us together. I fought against it. Warren. . . I'll be to you!"

"She's only human, and, after all, she is my wife!"

Haggerty confronted him, raging. "She may be your wife, but she's engaged to me!"

Then why didn't you marry her? "Because I was a fool!" shouted Haggerty. "But, damn going to now!"

Bill became serious, pleading. "Warren, I beg of you. . . For the first time in my life I'm in love. I've found the girl who means the whole world to me."

"And it had to be my girl! You quit playing at love, and it had to be my girl!"

"I've got no kick. You neglected her—"

"I neglected. . . Well, maybe I have been spending too much time with the paper, but I did it for love. I wanted her to be married to a top man."

"All you care about, Warren, is this paper. Well, you've got that and I've got Gladys."

"Gladys will do as I say. She'll start for Reno—no, you'd follow her there. She'll get a divorce in Yucca. That's where she and Simpson were 'plugged' in."

"Look here, Haggerty, don't try any tricks—"

"And the Chandler divorce, will be by air mail, speeded delivery."

Feeling that Chandler, if he double-crossed him in the Allenbury libel suit, as well as with Gladys, Haggerty decided to try his influence in persuading Connie to drop her action against the paper. He called at the Allenbury home. Connie received him coolly, but listened carefully to his pleas.

"I appeal to your social conscience, Miss Allenbury. If you go through with this case, it will throw 500 employees out of work—men and women jobless, walking the street—hungry, tired and cold, driven to drink and ruin. It's my fault. It was my mistake. All my life I'll be faced with the knowledge that I wrecked 500 lives—that's all I care about, Miss Allenbury. Those poor unfortunate souls shouldn't suffer for my mistake."

"You're right. They shouldn't suffer for your mistake," said Connie, pretending to be deeply moved. "They must be taken care of."

Haggerty seized her hands in his relief. "Heaven bless you, Connie—Miss Allenbury!"

"And for calling them to my attention. I'll see to it personally that the whole $5,000,000 goes into a fund for them."

"You mean for Haggerty?"

"I'm going ahead with the case!"

"But, of course! I must—to take care of those poor men and women."

"But," floundered Haggerty. "But, of course, there are other considerations. . . He broke off at the sound of a voice in the doorway. Bill Chandler entered, eyes only for Connie.

"Hello, my sweet!" Bill said, and started to put his arm around her before he noticed Haggerty looking at them in incredulous amazement. His hands dropped. Connie laughed.

"Oh, this is Mr. Haggerty of the New York Star. She drew Bill forward possessively. "Mr. Chandler, the writer," said Haggerty delightedly.

"Yes," murmured Bill unhappily. "I'm William Chandler."

"I'm just becoming familiar with your work and I thought maybe you might do something for our paper."

"Sorry, but I've got my hands full," said Bill, with a significant look at Haggerty.

"Sorry, no more work," said Connie, taking Bill's arm. "Why? I only see him now, once a day—Well, maybe twice, Mr. Haggerty came to discuss the case."

"Oh, yes, the case, by all means," babbled Bill, unhappily.

"And it's all settled," said Connie. "You're dropping the suit?" asked Bill dizzily.

"Oh, no, but thanks to Mr. Haggerty's social conscience, all the employees will be taken care of—with

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

Wondering How Soon Your Hair Will Catch Fire.

It's a shame ever to have to tell another person not to smoke. It always makes you feel like such a school marm. But just the same, there are times when we feel obliged to order him to strike the water in the Hellespont with "300 blows." After this was done, new bridges were set up, and the army marched across to Europe.

The fighting which took place in Greece was long and hard. At the mountain pass known as Thermopylae, 300 Spartans gave their lives in a vain effort to hold back the Persians.

As Xerxes came near Athens, the people fled, many of them boarding galleys.

Before long there was a fierce sea battle off the coast of the island known as Salamis. The Persian king watched the fighting from the shore. For a while the contest seemed about even, but then the Greeks won the upper hand. Two hundred Persian vessels were sunk or captured; the rest sailed away.

After the battle, Xerxes decided to go home to Persia. With him he took part of his vast army, but he left one of his generals in Greece. We are told that this general was in command of 300,000 Persians, after the king left.

Soon an army of Greeks made ready to fight the Persians on land. Spartans and Athenians made up most of this army. The Battle of Plataea was fought, and the Persians lost.

Then back to Persia went the rest of the Persians. The money spent to raise the vast army had been wasted. Thousands of men had been slain. Instead of gaining "Glory," Persia had lost it.

LIFE OF THE OLDEN PERSIANS.

Xerxes Invades Greece.

After the death of Darius the throne of Persia passed to a prince named Xerxes. The name is of strange spelling—the way to pronounce it is "Zerk-sess" with accent on the "ark."

Not long after he became king Xerxes took up the old quarrel with the Greeks for defeating his father's warriors, and he wanted to add to the glory of the Persian empire.

Just how large an army he raised, we do not know. One ancient account says 1,200,000 men were overland, and that many thousands of others sailed for Greece in a fleet.

A human interest story has come down to us—an aged man went before stead of using boats to ride passage, the king ordered his army to march from shore to shore. When they were almost finished they were broken down by waves which arose during a storm. Then, we are told, Xerxes ordered his men to strike the water in the Hellespont with "300 blows." After this was done, new bridges were set up, and the army marched across to Europe.

LONDON HINTS ORDER FOR U. S. WAR PLANES

Inability of British Manufacturers to Supply Demands Is Noted.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The air ministry refused today to confirm or deny persistent reports that the British government is about to place American orders for high speed bombers and 1,000-horsepower fighting planes.

The Royal Air Force defense strength is known to be below par because of a shortage of plant facilities and skilled workers. Manufacturers have been falling behind in their efforts to cope with the demands of the government rearmament program.

A group of aircraft designers and production managers returned recently from America with a favorable report on United States army aircraft progress. These experts were reported to have constructed several new types of bombers and pursuit planes. Reports said secret experiments with the latest type of American fighting planes already had been carried out here, to a satisfaction of air ministry officials.

Some aerial observers long have believed that an great British expansion, necessitated by the growing air power of Germany and Italy, would demand the co-operation of the aircraft industry in the United States. In any event, the problem of speeding up domestic production is expected to occupy early parliamentary attention.

ANTI-ALIMONY BODY

'Mads' Say Women Have Unfair Advantage in Court

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Samuel W. Mads, president of the "Mads"—Millionaires' Alimony Defense Association—said today six New York millionaires had joined his movement to bring alimony-seeking wives "to bay."

Rushmore, 65-year-old veteran of five years' battling in the divorce courts, said it cost him $25,000 financially to win a divorce from the woman he called his "Wildcat from the West"—Mrs. Hazel Hove Rushmore—who is 18 years his junior.

The "Mads" has 25 to 30 prospective members—"all hapless victims who are driven to despair and who want to commit murder or suicide as the only escape"—he declared. Women have an unfair advantage in the divorce courts and the "Mads" will be incorporated to right this wrong, said the wealthy inventor.

The Rushmores, both previously wed, were married April 15, 1929, and lived together two years. When Mrs. Rushmore brought suit for separate maintenance, he testified that she was a "Wildcat from the West" who came from Tacoma, Wash., and that he had "spanked her for her own good."

"Many a wife," he told the court, "has been brought back to the line by virtue of a judicious spanking."

ATLANTA THEATER NEWS

'Some Show' Is Title

Of Atlanta Burlesque

Jimmie Rooney, producer of the new show which opens at the Atlanta theater tonight, was stumped for a title for the offering. He spent two days seeking just the right name and then, during the last dress rehearsal, one of the stage hands came to the rescue, unwittingly.

"Some show," said the stage hand. "That's it," cried Jimmie. So, "Some Show" is the title. Lee Howard, the girl with the unusual singing voice, is the featured performer of the cast. She does more of that microphone crooning which has made such a hit. Eleanor Roberts is another former favorite who returns with this show, while Sam McLean and Bert Perry will continue the type of comedy which has proven so popular for the past week. Comedy that is side splittingly funny but which can offend no one. There are a number of new girls in the chorus line, replacing a few who, last week, revealed insufficient experience for this quality of production. The new show will be a Chinese number, built around the theme of "Boulevard of Broken Dreams."

There will be the usual two shows daily, with the exception of Friday matinee, every day for the week with the Sunday performances for the benefit of the Associated War Veterans. And another special midnight matinee on Saturday.

Funny 'Two in a Crowd'

Paramount Attraction

"Two in a Crowd," romantic comedy drama which comes to the Paramount theater today starring Joan Bennett and Joel McCrea, reaches the height of hilarity, often carrying fun to the point of howling laughter. The work of the stars and the direction of the offering are as buoyant as a child's soap bubbles floating in the summer sunshine, and the resultant revelry is twice as carefree.

"Two in a Crowd" proves that one-half of a thousand-dollar bill is not worth any more than half a soap bubble; that a girl should never spend her sweetheart's wedding trousseau money unless she is sure she wants to marry him.

The humor hums faster and merrier as the modern sweethearts attempt to solve their problems and find themselves continually more deeply entangled in situations lamentable to them but laughable to everybody else. "Two in a Crowd" is a "must see" picture, one in a million.

Alfred E. Green is the director. The excellent cast includes Henry Armetta, Alison Skipworth, Reginald Denny, Nat Pendleton, Andy Clyde and the former stage favorite, Elsie Cook Jr., remembered for his work with George M. Cohan in "Ah, Wilderness."

'Bengal Tiger' Coming

To Capitol on Sunday

Patrons of the Capitol theater are to have a real treat, starting Sunday, when "Bengal Tiger" will be presented as the feature screen attraction with the stage revue, "Ladies in Linen." "Bengal Tiger" is one of the most exciting and thrilling films ever to come out of Hollywood and offers a story of suspense, action and adventure.

Shirley Temple Moves

'Dimples' Into Georgia

Singing, dancing and dimpling her way into the hearts of millions once more, Shirley Temple in her new Twentieth Century-Fox triumph, "Dimples," is now being held over at the Georgia theater.

An exceptional cast, headed by the irrepressible Frank Morgan, supports Shirley in the film. With Helen Westley, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn, Delma Byron, the Hall Johnson choir and Stepin Fetchit prominently featured, "Dimples" tells the story of a lovable little street minstrel, Shirley, and her incorrigible but irresistibly funny guardian, Frank Morgan.

Morgan has a penchant for other people's belongings and his nimble fingers fasten on to anything of value with which they come in contact. His peccadillo eventually lead him into trouble but he goes out free through Shirley's winsome smiles and pleas.

With Morgan and Stepin Fetchit contributing hilarious laughter, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn and Delma Byron youthful romance, Helen Westley and Bertie Churchill providing stirring drama, and Shirley better than ever, "Dimples" is the greatest in the succession of Shirley Temple pictures.

Berry Accuses Landon of Disregarding Community of Interests.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Major George L. Berry, president of Labor's Non-Partisan League, in an address here tonight charged Governor Alf M. Landon with forgetting "there is a community of interest between agriculture and industry."

Asserting that Landon has shown complete disregard for the economic truth that a balance of purchasing power must be maintained between farmers and industrial employees "if there is to be any stability and permanency to our prosperity," Berry said New York city's economic recovery has been brought about only because farm prosperity had been restored.

He pointed out that in 1932 farm prices were so depressed that huge tracts of ripe crops were allowed to rot in the field, while at the same time millions of city dwellers were so poverty-stricken they could not buy food even at the unprecedented low prices.

"Change Under Roosevelt," he said, "a change has taken place. The present administration under President Roosevelt went straight to the heart of the farm problem at once and at the same time it went to the heart of the city problem."

"While farmers were receiving benefit payments of $1,276,395,804, through AAA—part of the price farmers should have received for their products in a normal market—labor under NRA in the cities was being employed at a rapid rate through shorter work hours, and wages were being raised all around, resulting in an increased purchasing power for farmers and city dwellers alike, simultaneously."

Berry asserted farm income had increased more than 80 per cent since 1932, while at the same time industrial production had risen a like percentage.

Comparisons.

"In New York state employment was up 48 per cent in August of this year over 1933. Pay rolls have increased by 84 per cent. Your factory employment alone, exclusive of retailing and wholesaling, has increased 44 per cent over March, 1933, and your factory pay rolls have jumped $100,000,000 a week in the same period."

"Why? Because the farmer is recovering his purchasing power. "In the fiscal year 1935, New York state shipped 56 per cent more goods of every description into farm states than it shipped in the fiscal year 1932. "Why? Because in 1935 the farmer received 89 per cent more for his cotton than he did then, 84 per cent more for his cattle and 27 per cent more for his milk."

TO AID LIVESTOCK PLAN. WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Civic clubs of Waycross entered a cooperative plan to take part in a program for increasing livestock production in this section of the state. After a union meeting of the clubs, members voted to establish a committee with two members from each organization to assist in the work.

Many Stars at Grand

In 'Libeled Lady' Film

The most dazzling, star-spangled pageant of notable personalities since the sensational "Dinner at Eight" is to be seen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's front page, mirth-marked joy picture, "Libeled Lady," which starts today at Loew's Grand theater.

Jean Harlow, whose "Suzy" now is topping the spectacular "San Francisco" in many cities; William Powell, star of the first road show attraction, "The Great Ziegfeld"; Myrna Loy, sharing honors with Powell in the world's greatest show; Spencer Tracy, now gaining millions of followers in "San Francisco"; and a supporting cast of marquee names headed by Walter Connolly, portray important roles in the new type newspaper story.

Jean Harlow plays a character paralleling her famous "Red Dust" portrayal for ribald humor. Powell is a reporter Beau Brummel who prefers hunting tabloid sweethearts to front page stories. Miss Loy is the famous daughter of the richest man in the world. Tracy is the harassed managing editor, more in love with his newspaper than his sweetheart.

Jack Conway, director of the highly dramatic "Tale of Two Cities," turns his talents to hilarious comedy in "Libeled Lady." The story that presents a side of newspaper life never before seen on the screen.

The story deals with a metropolitan newspaper which finds itself defendant in a libel suit brought by one of the world's richest men.

Attractive Hostess of the Air Will Reveal Experiences Here

By Sally Forth.

AIR LUGGAGE down to the last hair pin, favorite cold creams and milady's lipstick is included among the advisory tips for air travel served by Marie Sullivan, of New York, who has achieved the unique position of official housekeeper of the air for a well-known transport company.

Sally hears this young person combines Park avenue chic with middle western horse sense, and is an expert golfer, having enjoyed a round at the famous course at Banff with his majesty, King Edward VIII.

As official housekeeper for the air company, she has had many interesting experiences. She will relate many of them, together with the aforementioned requisites for feminine travel, when she speaks Saturday as honor guest at the luncheon and bridge party to be given by the achievement committee of the Georgia Woman's Democratic Club at Davison's.

It is for purely feminine reasons that Miss Sullivan is connected with the air company, for she is not a pilot and does not know any more about the mechanism of a ship than the average woman. She pokes her nose into the sort of food that is served in the air; into the color scheme and furnishing of plane interiors; into games and diversions that serve to pass the time, as one speeds from place to place through the clouds. She is the tops when it comes to telling passengers what to wear on the plane, how to pack, what sort of luggage to buy and what kind of wardrobe to take along. She can tell the feminine passenger just how and what she will need to look her best every minute of the air journey if it be for three hours or three months in the air.

Her visit here will be brief and her appearance Saturday will attract over 100 women who will assemble to meet her.

THERE is particular sentiment attached to the prospective visit of Nancy Hill, of Bronxville, N. Y., to Sara Jenkins. The foregoing is based on the fact that William K. Jenkins and Dean Hill, fathers of the two girls, were classmates at Georgia Tech as well as teammates on Georgia Tech's football team. Sally recalls when Bill Jenkins and Red Hill held down end positions for Tech's eleven and were idols of Atlanta's football fans during 1911-12-13. In fact, Red captained the team for two years during that period.

The daughters of this popular pair of Tech's alumni not only inherit their friendship from their fathers, but their mothers have also been close friends since girlhood days. Sara's mother, who was formerly Kate Booth and considered one of Atlanta's most popular belles during her young ladyhood, and Nancy's mother, the former Louise Frieder, of Carbondale, Pa., were roommates at Fairmont Seminary in Washington, D. C.

When Kate and Bill were married Red Hill attended the latter at best man and the former Miss Frieder served Kate as bridesmaid. During the intervening years the Jenkins' have frequently visited the Hills at their home at Bronxville, and last spring Nancy and her mother visited the Jenkins family at their Sea Island Beach home. Atlanta's meeting them there inform Sally that Nancy is most attractive and is of the pliant blond type of beauty.

Nancy is the sister of Dean Hill Jr. and Mark Hill, who are both enrolled at Princeton University. Evidently Dean Jr. inherited his father's ability to play football, for he is fullback on this year's Princeton team. He is also captain of the college's baseball team, and both he and his brother, who is the younger of the duo, are popular figures on the campus.

Sara and her mother leave November 5 for Dallas, Texas, where they will visit the Jenkins' older daughter, Mrs. Collett Munger, and Mr. Munger, and where Sara will make her debut with the Dallas debutantes on November 12. They will return in time for Nancy's arrival on November 16 when she will be one of many visiting belles attending Sara's debut breakfast on Thanksgiving Day, at which her parents will be hosts at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Would Not Miss Garden School

Mrs. Green D. Warren, past president of the Piedmont Garden Club and one of the city's most popular young matrons, is enthusiastic in her praise of the Constitution's semi-annual garden school, which opens next Tuesday for a three-day session at the Atlanta Woman's Club. "I think the school is a marvelous opportunity for the women of Atlanta," said Mrs. Warren, "and once you have attended one of its sessions you will never be willing to miss one. As for Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, director of the school, she inspires you to go out and do things to your garden." Mrs. Warren attributes the huge attendance at the schools to the fact that most women feel as she does—that the school is just too good to miss.

The bride was attired in an attractive model of green crepe, fashioned along modest lines. Her accessories were of green suede. A shoulder bouquet of white gardenias and valley lilies completed her costume.

Mr. Ramsey holds a valued connection with the federal reserve bank. He and his bride departed for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and upon their return will make their home in West End.

Pouring from a leaking pipe line valve while it was being transferred from a tank at the C. A. Carnes filling station to a truck, the highly volatile gas wafted down the street in a low lying white fog, and was ignited by a little trash fire in the courthouse square.

A sheet of flame shot through the cloud, accompanied by a series of small explosions where the gas had formed in pockets beneath buildings. When it reached the filling station, the flames exploded the truck and tank with a detonation that rocked the town of Rayne, seven miles away.

YOUR FIGURE, MADAME

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

HIPS NOT IMMUNE TO EXERCISE. Hips are immune to diet. Even though you keep your calories on the svelte side of "buxom," hips hover on the wrong side of the 35! But hips are not immune to exercise.

We thought at first that the new fashions would hide the hips, but they did in the good old days. But as it turns out, the exact styles reveal not only what you wear, but where you are padded with adipose tissue, the pelvis, bustles and tunic and the suspicion of bulk on the silhouette. If you have any bulges, the styles play them up.

To streamline the hips, put exercise behind your calorie counting. The following tip-purpose exercise—if performed correctly—will sleek down the hips, smooth out thigh bulges and flatten the tummy. What more could you ask of one exercise?

Position: Lying flat on back, arms outstretched in line with shoulders, legs extended straight down.

Movement: Raise right leg straight up in the air to form a right angle with the body. Now, swing the leg across the body and touch toes to fingers of outstretched left hand. You won't be able to quite make it the first couple of times, but keep trying.

Return to position, then raise left leg and touch the left toes to the right fingers. Alternating, perform the exercise six times, later 20.

Always be exact in every movement of an exercise. Raising the leg to right angles brings the muscles of the abdomen into the action. The other leg is held straight out on the floor throughout the entire exercise. Do not bring the fingers down to meet the toes. Keep the arms in line with shoulders. Given a chance, this exercise works wonders with your figure.

That protruding bulge on the side of each hip, revealed in such clarity by the new silhouette, also can be smoothed away. Plain rolling is good, but fancy rolling is better. Try this:

Position: Lying on back, hands clasped at the base of the neck. The knees are flexed, with the feet slightly off the floor, roll over on your side until bent knees and thigh rest on the floor. Then, with a push of elbows and knees, roll back to the opposite side. Keep it up until the bulges protest!

Bulky hips are usually accompanied by heavily padded thighs, and this is an exercise that shapes the thighs while reducing the hips.

Position: Lying flat on the floor with knees bent at sides, palms on floor, and feet together straight up in the air.

Movement: Spread the legs as far apart as possible, and then, in a scissor-like movement, cross one over the other. Swing the legs out and in as far as possible to affect the muscles of the thighs. Repeat 10 times, later 20.

This exercise is equally good for the buttocks.

Use Scissor Like These to Trim Down Bulky Hips.

Balanced Reducing Menu.

Breakfast—Dry cereal with 1-2 banana, sliced. Gravy. Whole milk, 3-4 glass. Sugar, 1 heaping tsp. Coffee, 1 tsp. cream, 1 rounded tsp. sugar.

Luncheon—Scrambled egg sandwich. Shred tomato. Tea, 1 lump sugar.

Dinner—Chicken, 6-oz. lean meat. String beans, 1 cup. Mashed potato, 1-2 cup. Pumpkin pie. Demi tasse.

Total calories for day 1,205. Your dieting.

SITUATION AT ASYLUM TRUCK DRIVER TO AID SEARCH FOR SLAYERS

Insane Forced to Sleep on Floors of Corridors, Says Mrs. Healey.

Conditions at the State Hospital for the Insane at Milledgeville "are deplorable," buildings are overcrowded and adequate medical treatment is impossible, declared Mrs. William T. Healey, chairman of the State Board of Control of Eminent Institutions, as she urged yesterday a need for legislative action.

"We have no provision to take care of the criminal insane," said Mrs. Healey, discussing a story in yesterday morning's Constitution, which revealed that federal officers were hampered in their handling of mental delinquents for whom no sanctuary could be found in the state asylum.

"The first thing that could be done in Georgia would be the awakening of the public to the seriousness of this problem in its care of the insane," declared Mrs. Healey.

In spite of the five wooden buildings erected at the institution, they are still rooming in the corridors of the buildings where they sleep on mattresses on the floor," said Mrs. Healey.

The Governor used his emergency funds to construct these temporary wooden quarters, but some action should be started to have the legislature improve this horrible system.

The first thing that could be done in Georgia would be the awakening of the public to the seriousness of this problem in its care of the insane," declared Mrs. Healey.

Judge E. M. Underwood, of the United States district court, and R. A. Chappell, probation officer of the United States Public Health Service, in a recent visit to Atlanta surveyed this situation and has returned to

Jackets Seek To Break Seven-Year Vandy Jinx Saturday

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 22.—You may put this down in the book for the boys who are coaching over here at Georgia. They have had more injuries than any two football teams and have said less about it.

Practice went on this afternoon as usual. It was the last one before the game with Auburn at Columbus on Saturday. That is, it was the last scrimmage work. The team packs up in the morning and works at Newnan in the afternoon, moving on to Columbus Saturday morning.

At least four regulars reported for practice today for the first time this week.

"Why," I asked Harry Mehre, "haven't you been moaning and doing a little first-class gnashing of teeth and beating of the manly breast about all this?"

"Well," he said, "we figured all that wouldn't help win any games for us. People were interested in what we did. And talking about injuries wouldn't help any. It was our medicine and we just had to take it."

Which happens to be very acceptable philosophy, but the handicap has been terrific. There is no getting around that fact.

WHAT ABOUT SATURDAY?

"What about Saturday?" I asked.

"Well," he said, "we figured before the season began we would be organized by the time of the Auburn game. We figured to win the first two. We didn't know what L. S. U. would have. It developed they had a great team. We were not organized, largely because of misfortunes, and we lost by a wide score instead of a small one. We played a very acceptable game against Rice. I think those who saw it were satisfied with the play of the team."

"And now comes Auburn."

"Yes," he said, "and now comes Auburn. We can't start all our team, but if we get off to a good start I think they will play them a good game."

"Do you think the team is as strong physically as it was for Rice?"

"I don't know. We have been forced to make some changes in the lineup. We'll just have to wait and see. If Auburn should get the jump on us they might make us look bad. We all are hoping to get the jump on Auburn and play them a good game."

"You still would rather we didn't go into the injury situation?"

"No, let it go. It's our medicine. We'll take it."

THE BOYS THEMSELVES.

The boys themselves feel the same way. The morale of the team is holding up in great fashion. There are no signs of discouragement.

"Some of our supporters may give up before the game is played, but we don't," one of the team's stars said. "We've had a lot of hard luck, but the season is young yet. And teams have lost games here before. We are going to get all our men in there some day and we'll have a lot of fun."

They are getting ready for Auburn with a fine lot of spirit and determination. They may not have but one quarterback, and him crippled. They may not have but one regular left halfback. They may be shy on ends. But they are getting ready for Auburn.

Auburn remains a top-heavy favorite to win the game. But it should be a football game. Unless, of course, Auburn gets the intangible advantage known as "the jump." When one team gets the jump, the other team never looks good. Georgia Tech got the jump on Kentucky and all but blew Kentucky off the field. The next week Duke got the jump on Tech and Tech

Off to Nashville---the Techs Seem Ready---Not Overconfident

Georgia Squad Crippled For Game With Auburn

Bulldogs Show Plenty of Spirit in Final Scrimmage.

By Ralph McGill.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 22.—Georgia's Limping Legions went through a brief scrimmage this afternoon as the final preparation for the annual game with Auburn at Columbus on Saturday, a game which is sure to attract a crowd of some 15,000 of the faithful.

Georgia's real offensive strength remains unknown. Because most of the cripples returned just today, the offense has had little time for development, a handicap which has retarded organization of the team all year. There was lots of spirit. The work, while perhaps awkward, lacked none of the zest which last scrimmages usually produced. This team is going to Columbus to give its best in an effort to win.

"PATCHED" LINEUP.

The lineup is patched like a pair of last year's pants. Johnny Jones, a fullback until last week, will be at left half for the simple reason that all left halfbacks are hurt. Lew Young, out for four days, returned yesterday, and will be at quarterback. Alf Anderson and Paul Causey, out for the past three days, will fill out the backfield.

Cool Vandiver and Guy Miller, two new additions to the varsity squad, worked with the backs today and will see action Saturday.

The line will see Maffett and Gillespie at ends. Haygood and Badgett at tackles. Hall and Leeborn at guards and Lumpkin at center.

OLD FRIENDS MEET.

There are old friends who meet in this game. Sid Scarborough and Joel Eaves, of the Auburn team, were Tech High players in Atlanta. On the same team with them was Crenshaw Bonner, Bulldog end.

These little features add greatly to the game, which is 44 years old and one of intense rivalry.

The scrimmage today saw Maurice Green going good, returning to action after an injury. The blocking was good in spots. But the spirit was good all the way.

Georgia will leave today by bus, going to Newnan for a workout there. They will spend the night there, moving on to Columbus Saturday morning. The Y. M. C. A. will be headquarters in that city.

ARRIVE SATURDAY.

The Auburn team will arrive in Columbus Saturday morning, going directly to the Country Club and remaining there until game time.

Coach Harry Mehre, of Georgia, hoped for the best, saying his team hoped to make a fight for the game. At Auburn Jack Meagher was trying to persuade his team not to become overconfident.

CLEMSON BEATS SOUTH CAROLINA

Foglers Scores 3 Touchdowns as Tigers Win Classic, 19-0.

By Jack Troy.

FAIR GROUNDS, COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 22.—Whoever broke the back on the hushhous door did the South Carolina Gamecocks a grave injustice today. Yes, indeed. For the Gamecocks, faced by a blood-thirsty band of Clemson Tigers, beaten back in their last three starts this season, were easy prey.

The toughest Tiger of them all was Mac Folger, hard-hitting 180-pound back from Pickens. He found the Gamecocks easy pickings, as they say away down south in the land of cotton.

Folger scored all three touchdowns as the Tigers cleaned the Gamecocks, 19 to 0.

A magnificent crowd of more than 15,000, a new high in South Carolina football, was amazed at the ease with which Coach Jess Neely's Tigers, held scoreless in the first period, handled the Gamecocks thereafter.

The Gamecocks were considered to have the stronger defensive team. And their offense was rated only a shade below Clemson's.

DOPE ALL WRONG.

But the pre-game figuring was all wrong. Only the kicking of Ed Clary held the Tigers out in the first period. Coach Neely held out Captain Joe Berry until the start of the second quarter. It was then the Tigers got under way.

Following Clary's kick which Berry returned 14 to the Carolina 37, there was some razzle-dazzle. Berry passed to Sam McConnell and McConnell lateraled to Ben Pearson. The gain was 10 yards and a first down on the Carolina 27.

There were short gains through the line. Then Berry dropped back and passed to McConnell again. The play was good for 15 yards and a first down at the Carolina 7.

Berry banged into the line for three and on the next play Folger crashed through center for the opening touchdown. McConnell failed to convert, but it was not needed.

TIGERS FIND SELVES.

Captain Berry was the leader in Clemson's second touchdown shortly afterwards.

Clary kicked deep into Clemson territory, but Captain Berry caught it and returned 38 yards on a dazzling broken field sprint.

Folger rammed the line for a good gain and immediately following was another great pass. Berry to McConnell. It was a 21-yard pass, with McConnell struggling to the Carolina 7 before he was brought down.

Berry and Folger bucked to the 1-foot line, and Folger, a powerhouse back, rammed across the line for the second touchdown. Pearson kicked extra point.

GAMECOCKS BID.

Clemson led, 13 to 0, at the half and the third period which was scoreless saw the Gamecocks make their only bid to score.

An intercepted pass started the 13-gers off again in the final period. Captain Berry made the interception near midfield. He hit the line for 5. Carolina was penalized 5. Then Berry passed again, this time to Pearson. It was good for 15 yards. Carolina drew a holding penalty. Berry and Folger teamed up again on running plays and carried the ball to the 19 and on a fake reverse Folger sped 19 yards around left end for the third and final touchdown.

PICKENS POWERHOUSE.

The brilliant running of the Pickens powerhouse was a real highlight. The Tigers, Georgia Tech's opponent Saturday a week at Grant field, showed the great crowd something today.

The annual fair game was played under a searing sun; the temperature

Jacket Squad Entrains For Vanderbilt Game

By Ralph McGill.

This does not mean that Your Reporter is the young man on the Flying Trapeze.

Or even the old man. But he arrived from Athens just in time to witness the Georgia Techs on their departure from Atlanta to Nashville, Tenn.-O-See.

Which explains why two stories written in Athens appear under that date line and this one, written in Atlanta, has no date line at all.

The Techs got away in great style. There were large gobs of alumni down at the train. And large gobs of students. The band, which leaves today.

RETURN OF AGEE WILL ADD PUNCH TO COMMODORES

Rose Bowl Team of 1928 Season Was Last to Beat Vanderbilt.

By Jack Troy.

The modern Tech-Vanderbilt rivalry, which started away back in 1906 and will be continued with the playing of the 19th game Saturday at Nashville, finds the Yellow Jackets with only six victories to the Commodore's 11. The 1927 game resulted in a scoreless tie.

Tech last defeated the Commodores in the gay and golden days of 1928. The Golden Tornado sent the Commodores down with the ship, 19 to 7.

But the last seven years have been lean for Tech. The victory cupboard has been bare. Vandy has won every game since 1928.

An so, it is to do something about that long absence of triumph that the Tech Jackets had as their goal as they departed for Union station last night for Nashville.

30 MAKE TRIP.

There was a traveling squad of 30 Jackets. All of them, save Red Collins, halfback, were in good physical condition. Collins is the only varsity player who might, conceivably, miss the game. The big blocking back has an injured knee. He did not work in uniform all week.

The Commodores will be, in a manner of speaking, fighting for existence Saturday. They have lost games to Southwestern and Southern Methodist University on successive Saturdays.

But they haven't been beaten in the conference. Maybe that is because the Tech game is Vandy's first conference engagement. But that remains to be seen. Tech has won two conference games.

SCORING PUNCH.

The return of Sam Agee, savage, hard-plunging fullback, may mean a return to the Vandy form of the Chicago massacre. Vandy has not had a scoring punch since Agee was benched two weeks ago because of a knee injury.

Agee has been working lightly all week. And the word is that Coach Ray Morrison intends to turn him loose against the Techs.

Joe Agee, brother of Sam, has won the first-string signal-calling post. Huggins and Hollins are fleet halfbacks.

Captain Dick Plasman, Carl Hinkle and Baby Ray are bulwarks on the Vandy line, which will outweigh the Tech forward wall.

It is, by all odds, a game wherein chance may play a big part. For the past two years Tech has been a victim because members of the secondary have batted up after which the Vandy players caught and converted into touchdowns.

If Lady Luck is kinder Saturday, Tech may emerge from the fray with a margin of one, or maybe two, touchdowns.

PRACTICE IN NASHVILLE.

A practice is scheduled this afternoon at Nashville. After which the boys will repair to their sleeping quarters.

KENTUCKY STAR, BOB DAVIS, HURT

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 22.—(AP)

Kentucky's offensive hopes were kicked sky high this afternoon when halfback Bob Davis, the nation's leading scorer with 11 touchdowns, was injured and sent to Good Samaritan hospital with an undetermined injury. Davis was kicked in the side during the scrimmage.

Coach Chet Wynne announced that he would replace Davis with his brother, Dameron, in the Florida game Saturday. Dameron proved almost as adept in the Washington and Lee game at carrying the ball as his older brother.

Kentucky turned in a long practice, climaxed by a scrimmage in a drizzling rain.

The 'Cats have gone in heavily for trick stuff all week and it is evident Coach Chet Wynne's charges will unleash plenty of razzle-dazzle against the 'Gators.

Josh Cody, Florida mentor, will be gunning for revenge when he leads the visitors on to Stoll field. Cody was co-chief of a strong Clemson team back in 1930—a team that Kentucky defeated, 40 to 6, so no one can blame him for wanting to upset the 'Cats Saturday.

All the Kentucky players, save Wendell Skaggs, tackle, and Davis are in good shape. Skaggs, injured last week in practice, is definitely out of the Florida game and will be replaced by Jod Bosse or W. T. Tracey. Lawrence Garland may replace Russ Ellington at left end.

Yanks, Giants Get Checks for Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(P)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, officially cut the largest World Series melon in history today when he mailed out checks to the Yankees and Giants and players of the other first-division clubs in each league.

Corresponding closely to unofficial figures calculated after the all-New York battle was concluded, each full share for the Yankees amounted to $6,430.55, while the "cut" for the Giants is $4,655.59, a new record for the season's share.

The Yankees split a total of $192,201.12 among 36 players, officials and club employees, while the Giants divided $128,880.74 among 32 individuals. Each club awarded 27 full shares.

never got back into the ball game. But it was interesting to find that two successive defeats, one of them a heart-breaker they felt they should have won, have not broken the morale of this football team.

I am not partisan, but a reporter of events. And I know that in the dressing rooms of many losing teams there are good, game boys who are playing football because they want to, and who are saying:

"Some of our supporters may give up before the game is played, but we don't."

That was worth coming to hear—being the declaration of independence which is written in the mind of every worth-while player in every section of the country. And being also a rebuke to those who think their disappointment and joy in the stands matches that of the boys in the game.

FROM COLUMBUS.

From Columbus comes word that ticket sales are brisk. Very brisk indeed. And that the stadium will be well filled, if not overflowing on Saturday.

There will be tickets for all who come. But the sale is moving fast.

Judge Frank Foley, who is inspector of the six shooters, which keep guard over the ticket sale cash, informs me that Columbus is ready and waiting for the throng. Judge Foley and his cohorts seemed to soften up a year or so ago but they now are back in stride. Mr. Frank Lumpkin is reported to be waiting for his friends. In other words, all is well at Columbus. I think I shall have to take that early morning train. I always am very polite around the ticket office, tipping my hat as I enter. There is something about a six shooter which generates courtesy.

Columbus has handled this game in splendid fashion. The well-behaved crowds have been a feature. They enjoy the game but the crowds have been colorful, festive and entertaining.

TECH SHOVS OFF.

Georgia Tech shows off tonight, arriving in Nashville Friday morning for a workout on Dudley field in the afternoon.

Tech is the favored team. Tech should win by at least two touchdowns. But a listless, uncertain Tech team can lose the game.

Especially if it is not alert on defense against passes. Most of the Vanderbilt attack will be through the air.

TULANE FAVORED TO NIP TARHEELS IN GREAT BATTLE

Blue Devils Have Never Beaten Neyland's Teams in Knoxville.

By Kenneth Gregory.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Duke's Blue Devils and North Carolina's Tarheels invade the Southeastern conference Saturday to risk unblemished records in a pair of football battles overshadowing from a general viewpoint the family bickering.

Three intra-conference quarrels are down for settlement, headed by the Georgia Tech-Vanderbilt combat at Nashville, but Duke and Tennessee lock horns at Knoxville and North Carolina and Tulane come to grips at New Orleans in the featured attractions.

Rated by sports writers as the second strongest eleven in the nation, the unbeaten and untied Blue Devils of Duke face in Tennessee probably the toughest hurdle remaining in the path of a perfect campaign.

NEVER HAS WON.

The records reveal that Duke never has conquered Tennessee on the latter's battleground. Their rivalry since 1931 ranks with the greatest, Tennessee's Volunteers hold a 3-to-2 edge, but it was Duke that beat them in 1933 by 10-2 to check a three-year winning streak.

In their first meeting in 1931, Tennessee triumphed 25-2 and followed the next year with a 16-13 victory on a field goal after Duke had tied the count at 13-13 with two minutes remaining. The Volunteers passed to a pair of touchdowns in the third period to win 14-6 in 1934. Duke triumphed 19-16 last season.

As in the case of Duke, North Carolina's clean record to date is in danger when the Tarheels tackle Tulane, classed as the biggest surprise package in the 1936 Southeastern campaign. The Green Wave of New Orleans, after upsetting Mississippi 7-6, battled Auburn to a scoreless decision and followed with a spectacular 28-6 conquest of Colgate, a team beaten only 6-0 by Duke.

From the Southeastern championship standpoint, the clash of Georgia Tech's "razzle-dazzle" attack and Vanderbilt's "aerial circus" provides the major act of the day's program.

Ray Morrison's Commodores, whipped in their first game by Southern, and Southern Methodist, face a big assignment for the start of their conference campaign.

Georgia Tech, triumphant over Sewanee and Kentucky in Southeastern frays and defeated only by Duke in outside competition, will seek to avenge a 14-13 licking last year. Too, Bill Alexander's Engineers will be attempting to break a string of seven consecutive losses to the Vanderbiltites.

Other intrafamily quarrels send Georgia against Auburn at Columbus, Ga., in the renewal of one of the south's oldest rivalries. Florida invades Lexington to battle Kentucky's Wildcats, conquered only by Georgia Tech.

ABURN FAVORED.

The favorite's role goes to Auburn when the Plainsmen tackle Georgia's Bulldogs in the forty-first renewal of their ancient series, but the Georgians are set for a battle as was shown by their fine exhibition in a losing encounter with Rice last week. Auburn, however, gets the call in view of its victories over Tennessee and Detroit. Kentucky will be favored over Florida.

Intersectional dueling sends Louisiana State, the defending conference champion, against the ball-tossing Razorbacks of Arkansas at Shreveport, and Mississippi State against Texas Christian at Dallas. The Southwest Conference holds a two-to-one edge over the Southeastern thus far. In addition, Texas tied Louisiana State 6-6 for the only blot on the champions' record.

OLE MISS-CATHOLIC.

Another intersectional battle brings together two of last year's Days "bowl" game participants, Mississippi's Rebels and Catholic University. Opponents at Miami in the "orange bowl" clash at Oxford, Miss., with the former hopeful of avenging a 20-19 setback.

Alabama's Crimson Tide, battled to a scoreless deadlock by Tennessee last week, opens the week-end program in an encounter with Loyola's Wolfpack at New Orleans Friday night. Sewanee's Tigers round out the full slate in a game with Tennessee Tech at Sewanee.

Golden Glove Meet Slated for Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(P)—The southern golden gloves boxing tournament will be held here February 9-11, the Nashville Tennessee, sponsor of the event, announced tonight.

The Tennessee's territory takes in Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Florida and North and South Carolina.

Directors of the tournament estimate more than 700 boys will compete in the various regional meets prior to the southern finals.

Winners in the southern finals qualify for a chance at the national golden glove titles in eight divisions at Chicago in March.

AUBURN.

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 22.—(P)—Auburn's Plainsmen were in excellent shape today to meet Georgia Saturday with the exception of Joe Stewart, blocking quarterback, out for the season because of injuries.

Coach Meagher said the team was "definitely gaining in confidence and that improved passing will add to its effectiveness."

Not handicapped by travel, the squad will be in a greatly improved physical condition over that of last week at Detroit. Osmo Smith, sophomore, will alternate a quarterback with Scarborough.

TENNESSEE.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(P)—Encircling himself with gloom and Coach Bob Neyland said flatly today that Tennessee's Volunteers "haven't a Chinaman's chance" of defeating the strong, undefeated Duke team here Saturday.

"I don't see how we can score against Duke, and I imagine they will beat us two or three touchdowns," he asserted.

Neyland advanced these reasons:

His squad, he said, is "badly shot" with injuries and four hard-hitting backs, Wallen, Sneed, Daugherty and Wood, will hit the sidelines.

Tennessee scored but one touchdown in games with North Carolina, Auburn and Alabama.

Because of unexpected injuries it has been impossible to keep a backfield together long enough to start clicking.

And lastly, he rates Duke as one of the strongest teams in the country.

Fans recall that since the coaching rivalry began in 1928 between Wallace Wade and Bob Neyland, a Wade-coached team has never defeated a Neyland-coached team on the Volunteers' gridiron.

DUKE.

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 22.—(P)—After a workout on all departments of the 24-acre campus, the Duke football team left for Knoxville, where Saturday afternoon they will meet Tennessee's Volunteers.

Dick Taliaferro and Bill Bailey, injured on the left and right sides, respectively, are expected to be able to play. Neither has practiced this week. Remaining members of the squad are in good shape, and passing and running drills were held.

Players making the trip: Dan Bill and Fred Edwards, centers; Joe Caldwell, Joe Brunansky, Robert Haas and Fred York, tackles; Tom Power, Clarence Badger, guard; Frank Liana, Richard Taliaferro, Charles Fisher, Willard Eargary and Bill Bailey, ends.

Captain Clarence Parker, John Johnston, Elmore Hackney, Herb Hudgins, Bob O'Mara, Harwood Smith, Eric Tipton, Robert Spangler and Sam Gardner, backs.

OLE MISS.

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Oct. 22.—(P)—Coach Ed Walker reminded University of Mississippi gridmen today that bad luck has haunted them all season and might recur Saturday.

Players of the Orange Bowl game last January 1, when an outplayed Catholic University eleven achieved a one-point victory.

Walker urged them to avoid lapses in play throughout the full 60 minutes when the teams meet again this week-end here.

"First-quarter misdeeds brought the first loss," he said. "We want no more of that."

Changes made by Walker during the first of the week looked as if they would stick, with the possible exception of the backs.

Joe Kilgore ran at Riley's place in scrimmage Wednesday.

The squad of about 30 players will leave for New Orleans tonight.

Colonials Will Play Wake Forest Tonight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(P)—George Washington University's undefeated football club went through a short drill today in preparation for its encounter tomorrow night with the Deacons of Wake Forest College, North Carolina, beaten only once this season.

Coach Jim Pixlee pronounced the Colonials in good condition.

Thibault moved into the backfield to replace Halfback Merka.

The Deacons are scheduled to arrive here early tomorrow.

JACKETS ENTRAIN FOR VANDY TILT

was not on hand, being busy getting ready for the game.

The Georgia Tech departure was something of a triumph. This was because the people wanted to show the team they did not seriously regard the defeat in Duke. They gave the team a sendoff which was good enough for an undefeated team.

Coach Alexander, all smiles, said: "I hope the boys are not overconfident. We want to win. But we know Vandy is a lot tougher than they have appeared. At least they will be set for us. They always fight Tech."

Meanwhile from Nashville came the word the Commodores had not been worried by Southwest or S. M. U., both of which defeated the Commodores. But that they were waiting for Tech, letting the other teams do as they pleased.

This came from now official source but it is a well-known fact the Commodores would lose lots of games to win from Tech. Neither of the games lost was a conference game.

Tech's team was accompanied by the faithful, including Fred Kaufman, Dr. D. M. Smith and lots of others. Three Pullmans carried them away.

Tech is the favorite and this game is one of those Atlanta wants to win. If the boys take this one all is forgiven.

MAHAN IS FATHER.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 22.—(P)—Eddie Mahan, one-time Harvard football star, became a father today but it's a cinch his offspring won't follow his steps to All-American fame.

It was a daughter born to Mrs. Mahan at Paul Kimball hospital. Mahan was named fullback by Walter Camp on his all-time All-American eleven. He is now director of athletics and football coach at Newman school here.

FLORIDA.

GAINEVILLE, Fla., Oct. 22.—(P)—Coach Joe Cody was in good spirits today as he herded 28 University of Florida football players aboard a train bound for Lexington, Ky., where the Gators meet Kentucky Saturday.

"We don't know much about Kentucky since the only game we have played is the Georgia Tech game," Cody said, "but we will be in there fighting."

Earlier, he declared if the team "will do some good tackling Saturday, we may be able to hold Kentucky's brilliant backs, but if not things will be bad."

Every regular was reported in shape for the contest. The team has concentrated on offensive drills this week, planning to shoot the works in Florida's first Southeastern conference encounter.

The squad ran through a light workout before boarding the train.

L. S. U.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 22.—(P)—A total of 37 Louisiana State University football players were told off by Coach Bernie Moore to leave tonight for Shreveport, La., for the Arkansas game at the Louisiana State Fair.

The players were told to leave tonight for Shreveport, La., for the Arkansas game at the Louisiana State Fair.

Governor Richard W. Leche, the 210-page cadet band, and "Mike," the university's newly acquired, honest-to-goodness Bengal tiger, symbol of the school, will follow the squad later.

Morton, reserve back, may replace "Rock" Reed, who suffered an injured foot in the Ole Miss game, in the starting lineup.

NORTH CAROLINA.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 22.—(P)—Stopping here this afternoon, the University of North Carolina football team spent the day in physical condition for its inter-conference game Saturday with Tulane in New Orleans.

Coach Ray Wolf put special emphasis on blocking and passing during the drill here. "Our team is in good physical condition," he said.

The Tarheels broke the trip here with a nine-hour stopover and resumed the trek to New Orleans late tonight.

ALABAMA.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 22.—(P)—An infected right toe today threatened to curtail the triple-threat activities of Joe Riley, halfback kingpin of Alabama's attack.

Riley missed practice Wednesday to have his toe lanced and it appeared today he would not be able to do the punting against Loyola at New Orleans Friday, although he probably will play.

Booster has been running in the starting backfield this week as coaches sought to improve blocking and other offensive factors.

Joe Kilgore ran at Riley's place in scrimmage Wednesday.

The squad of about 30 players will leave for New Orleans tonight.

Mrs. Gaut Beats Babe Didrikson

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 22.—(P)—Steadiness enabled Mrs. Dave Gaut, of Memphis, Tenn., to defeat Mildred B. Didrikson, of Beaumont, business woman golfer, and enter the semi-finals of the Texas open women's tournament today.

The veteran, who has been southern champion several times, dropped a 10-foot putt on the 19th hole to take the match from her younger foe.

Mrs. Gaut had Miss Didrikson down two at No. 17. Babe won the match on the 18th hole.

As usual, Babe's long game was good and her opponent was better at the short game.

Coch Neighbors, however, will continue as football mentor of G. H. S. through the schedule, which concludes with the Athens High game on Thanksgiving Day. His classes in civics and algebra will be conducted by a supply teacher during the remainder of the scholastic year.

Brown, Zaharias Open Indoor Season Tonight

Orville Brown and George Zaharias, two of the highest-paid and highest-ranking heavyweight wrestlers of the day, clash in the feature event of Frank Spear's big opening of the indoor mat season tonight at his new arena, located in the Louisville building at 445 West Peachtree. The show starts at 8:30 with a great crowd expected.

Spear has arranged a show embracing six of America's classic matmen, each of whom has at one time or another headlined programs in Atlanta. Dave Roche and Roland Kirchmeyer are to be principals in a semi-final; the former All-American tackle from Ohio University, Rowdy Karl Davis, steps into the ring in the opener against a boy who formerly was a great favorite here, Blue Sun Jennings.

While the two supporting matches are above the average and promise thrills and fast grappling, the Zaharias-Brown match rightly occupies the top spot on the program. It is one of the classic attractions ever billed for Atlanta.

There is also a possibility that Dick Rainey will be obtained to meet the winner, although Spear was none too sure of being able to land the sought-after Texan at this time. Brown holds a win over Rainey here this year, accomplishing that feat via a foul.

Zaharias is a master showman in addition to being a tough wrestler and his appearances are consistently accompanied by dynamic and colorful action, the kind that draw the fans and sends them home talking to themselves.

Popular prices, officials say, will prevail.

EMORY ELEVEN TO CLASH TODAY

The Junior and Sophomore eleven in the Emory intramural league will meet this afternoon in a regularly scheduled game, ending the second week of play on the first half schedule.

The Juniors reign as pre-game favorites, but may not have the services of C. A. May, fullback, who is out with injuries received in the Junior-Sophomore game last week. The Sophs were unimpressive and lacked offensive punch in their first encounter, a 7-0 defeat at the hands of the Freshmen.

The surprising Frosh, rated as pre-season underdogs, are leading the loop with two consecutive victories, after an impressive 20-12 trouncing of a favored Senior team Wednesday afternoon.

Today's game will be called at 3 o'clock on the lower Emory gridiron.

Freshmen Beat Seniors, 20 to 12

Taking advantage of the breaks of the game, a lighter Freshman team in the Emory intramural league, out fought and outplayed a favored Senior eleven Wednesday and ran up their second consecutive win of the season with a 20-12 upset victory.

THE LINEUPS.

FRESHMEN (20): L. E. Simmons, L. E. Morrison, Wilson, L. G. Hammond, R. G. Palmer, R. G. Newman, R. G. Baskett, R. E. Callaway, R. E. McMath, R. E. Kimbrough, R. E. Hall, R. E. Klausman.

Boys' High Meets Lanier Tonight for State Championship

BEARS, FURMAN CLASH TONIGHT IN HOME-COMING

Mercer Seeks First Win Over Purple Since 1925 at Macon.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 22.—Homecoming festivities began at Mercer tonight with a great bonfire on the university campus and a wild shirt-tail parade by students, whooping with enthusiasm for the annual grid clash between the Bears and Furman's Purple Hurricane. The kickoff in Centennial stadium is set for 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night.

Captain Bob King, candidate for All-American end, led the Carolinians into town this afternoon. Coach Dixie McLeod had his squad on the battle ground at 7 o'clock.

The Bruins went through a similar drill with booming spirit. Although he gave out no definite word, Coach Lake Russell indicated he would start the Fitzgerald flash, Wright Bazemore, at quarterback. The little man was the defensive hero of a scoreless tie last week with Howard here.

AERIAL ATTACK.

It was a tossup whether Jesse Corona or Red Turch started at fullback. Turch is quite a passer, and Mercer is quite certain to put on a daring aerial raid to puncture the powerful Hurricane defense.

But Corona is an explosive demon at plugging into the line. He might get the assignment.

Allan Bloodworth and Jack Morris are certain in the backfield.

The line is ready with Ewing Edge and Manuel Mamalakis, tackle and guard, respectively, but back at their accustomed parts for the kickoff. Captain Roger Dodd will be in there at the guard.

Eight Griffin, Ga., boys appear with Furman. Four of them will be in that starting lineup—Luttrell Maddox, George Patrick, Hugh McLaughlin and Joe Foster. The others—Aubrey Hollingsworth, Perry Patrick, Don Kelsner and Jack Shivers—will see some action before the final whistle.

Foster and Maddox make up the strong Hurricane overhead game. Foster does the hurling and blocking, while Maddox is a great pass receiver.

KING SPARK PLUG.

June Scott is the big gun, however. This 175-pound hip-swinging lad with the girl's name was an all-state star last season. Captain King is another spark plug of the team. He calls the signals from his berth at left end on defense, right end on offense.

The two old rivals stack up quite evenly matched in regards to weight. Aside from Billy Smith and Ed Varner, the Bears are in good condition for the battle. Mentally they are keyed to a high pitch.

A parade at noon tomorrow will move through the downtown district of the city, led by the Mercer band and including floats representing most of the school fraternities and several Macon business firms.

The probable lineups:

MERCER
Trenchard, P. E.
Maddox, L. E.
Bain, C. C.
Patrick, R. C.
Travisman, R. T.
McLaughlin, R. T.
King, C. C.
Scott, Q. R.
Watson, L. H.
Foster, R. H.
Corona, J. B.

Freddie Haas Jr., the senior student golfer of Louisiana State University, will enter the Mexican amateur championship at Mexico City.

Petrels End Rough Work For Emory-Henry Game

Coach Johnny Patrick, of the Oglethorpe Petrels, sent his charges through a long defensive scrimmage yesterday in preparation for the Emory and Henry battle Saturday.

The Petrel frosh, using the plays of Saturday's foe, gained considerable ground against the varsity and Patrick indicated a change in his defensive setup for the Wasp game.

One of Patrick's chief worries is the injury of Sully Sullivan, halfback, a doubtful starter. In case "Sully" is unable to start Ben Forkner, Avondale boy, will get the call in this position.

Several of the reserves who have shown promise during the last week are expected to be called upon to give some rest to the 60-minute men, Piggie, Puryear, Clyburn, Pickard and Zelenick.

The game will get underway at 2 o'clock at Hernandez field and it will be "Lucky Aving" Lee. White Sox star will be honor guest at a banquet following the game.

NEGRO 11'S END DRILLS FOR TILT

With the colored grid fans excited over the approaching traditional game between Morris Brown and Morehouse College at 2 o'clock Saturday at Ponce de Leon park, the coaching staff of both institutions will send their charges through their final workout this afternoon in their respective camps.

Dopesters and critics who have given the Wolverines a decisive edge to win this contest have changed with the announcement that the ace of the Morris Brown attack, Sad Sam Jones, who is injured, may not see action in this game.

The Macon Tigers, who defeated Morris Brown last year by a 7-0 score, are pinning their hopes on such stalwarts as McCurrie, Scott, Clarke and Miller, half carriers, that have in the past proven dependable to crack the Purple line which thus far this season hasn't allowed a point to be scored against them.

With Jones out, Morris Brown must depend on Luttrell, Braxton, Kemp, Harmon, Brown, Cooper, Dixon, Parks and several lesser lights to carry on their offensive. Pep meetings are being held daily at both schools, heavy rain clouds hanging over the game.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Morris Brown will burn Morehouse in effigy, a custom they have followed over a period of many years. Several hundred students will take part in the bon fire.

Tickets can be bought at the business office of each school.

'Pop' Mason Dies; Gave A's First Title

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Charles E. Mason, manager and part owner of the Philadelphia Athletics in the '80s and '90s and the man who brought the first baseball pennant to the city, died yesterday. He was 83.

Known as "Pop" in sports circles of earlier days, Mason, who was born in New Orleans, started his baseball career as a pitcher with the Williams College team. Later he played with numerous western clubs and with Cincinnati and Washington.

He aspired to become a manager and helped organize the American association. With William and Lew Simmons he took over the Philadelphia Athletics. Mason, acting as his own scout, secured the states himself and brought some of the best players obtainable to the A's. The team won the pennant in 1883.

He was said to have suggested the rule that the batter hit by a pitched ball should receive his base. "Ladies' day" also was said to have been his idea.

Mason, black, manager of the Athletics, said Mason "did a lot for old-time baseball. I believe he is the last of his group to go."

MACON GRIDMEN TO SHOOT WORKS AGAINST PURPLE

Great Crowd Expected to View Hostilities at Ponce de Leon.

Boys' High and Lanier High, of Macon, two of the outstanding high school teams in the state, will battle at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon park for the state high school championship. A victory for the Purple will give them undisputed right to the title, while a Lanier victory will leave only Riverside Military Academy out in front, undefeated.

Tonight's game will be the toughest of the season for Boys' High, since the state title hangs in the balance. And Lanier, a bitter rival of many years, will be out for revenge and a chance at that 1936 championship.

In 12 years of competition the score has never been more than two touchdowns difference, except last year when the Purple won, 32 to 0, and Coach Selby Buck's team is expected to erase that 1935 defeat in large quantities.

30 STRAIGHT.

Boys' High is undefeated in 30 straight games and holds both the city and state championships. The Purple are out to make it 31 tonight for the longest string of victories ever run up here.

And Boys' High has an old score to settle with Lanier High, for back in 1933, the Poets broke a Boys' High winning streak of 17 games, with a 14-0 win over the Purple.

Both coaches have centered their attention to tonight's game and have scouted each other as never before. Lanier has had at least one scout at every Boys' High game and last Friday night the entire Poet team saw Boys' High beat the Monroe Aggies.

Boys' High came right back Saturday afternoon and saw Lanier lose, 31 to 0, to Riverside Military Academy at Gainesville, in another team scouting.

Both teams have put out several injury reports, but like all others those crimples on both squads most likely will flip, even though on crutches.

Flip Boud, end, and Roy Gore, fullback, suffered ankle injuries during the week, but were back in uniform Wednesday and Thursday afternoon.

Two guards and a fullback are reported to be out of the lineup, with injuries.

Boys' High will start with Wiley and Bond, ends; Perkerson and Monroe, tackles; DeFreese and Huck, guards; Sheldon, center and McDuffie, Vossler, Sabo and Gore in the backfield.

The Purple have beaten Commercial, Enslay, Savannah, Decatur and Monroe, but were not so impressive in winning. The Savannah and Monroe games, in particular, were won by one touchdown.

Lanier High's only loss was a 31-0 defeat by Riverside last Saturday, which materially weakened the Poet's chances for the state crown, unless they can beat Boys' High tonight.

Lanier Tackles To Miss Game

MACON, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Coach Selby Buck will force to start two boys' high football teams against Boys' High of Atlanta at Ponce de Leon park tomorrow night when Lanier High comes to Macon to play the Purple 30-game winning streak.

"Stone Mountain" Burgess, veteran lineman, suffered a "charley horse" yesterday which will make him unavailable. An attack of boils has kept George "Chicken" Felton out of the rough work this week and while he may be used during the game he will not start. Second-team Tackles Matt Cole and "Moon" McCullough will replace them in the opening lineup.

G. M. A. Battles Proviso in Chicago

G. M. A. will battle Proviso High, in Chicago, Ill., tonight, in the second intersectional game of the year for the Cadeis.

Marist and North Fulton will play in north Georgia this afternoon with Marist at Rome and North Fulton at Canton.

Elberton To Meet Greensboro Today

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 22.—As mid-season approaches in the tenth district this Friday, Greensboro and Elberton entangle in the conference's outstanding match. The two teams play at Elberton.

Hartwell and Lavonia, for many years rivals, play another strictly district contest Friday in Lavonia. Neither team is recognized as a serious threat for the league title, but a close game is sure to result.

Madison and the Thomson-Varrenton tilt at Thomson round out other district duels. Incidentally, Thomson High will play its first game of the season Friday.

Three intersectional games are slated. Royston meets Cornelia at Royston, Monroe tackles Winder at Winder, and Lincoln goes to Tennille.

Motorcycle Races Set for Lakewood

Motorcycle riders of the southeast will race Sunday afternoon on the Lakewood track in the annual southern championship. The program has been changed from a closed Dixie Motorcycle Club affair to include any rider in the south.

There will be 10 events on the program, half of which will be speed and the other half trick and stunt riding. Some of the country's outstanding motorcycle riders are scheduled to arrive in the city today to begin tuning up their motors for Sunday's races.

Only 45-cubic-inch motors will be eligible to compete in the various events.

Purdue Seeks To Halt Gophers' Long Streak

Bierman's Powerhouse Shooting at Its 21st Straight Victory.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(UP)—One man—slip, 180-pound Cecil Isbell of Purdue—threatened today to boot Minnesota's chain of 20 straight victories and end its mighty three-year reign over American football.

One man alone can't lick the Gophers. But Isbell, highest scoring back in the middle west and inspired leader in one of Purdue's greatest backfields, with added help from other touchdowns, the day Noble Kizer sent Isbell to the line and away.

The Boilermakers, becomes the most dangerous runner the Gophers have met during their undefeated span.

If Minnesota tightens its defense for Purdue running plays, Isbell's sniping forward passing arm will strike overhead—loosen up to protect against passes, and he may dart into the line and away.

HIGH SCORER.

The Boilermaker, star has averaged 11.8 yards, scored six touchdowns and kicked eight extra points from place-mats. With 44 points, he is the nation's third high scorer.

Running with him will be Johnny Drake, a good ball-carrier. He blossomed into a great halfback from the day Noble Kizer sent Isbell to fullback and dropped Drake to right half to capitalize on his flawless blocking. He has carried the ball 32 times, gaining 230 yards for an average of 7.8.

DEFENSIVE TEAMS.

Against this high-gear attack, Bernie Bierman will send probably his strongest defensive team in years. Bierman has elected to make his first line of defense against passes, relying on his armor-plated Gopher line to throw back Isbell and his powerful mates.

No Minnesota back can match Isbell's 1936 record, but at least four hard runners have shared the job of helping the Gophers to their nine touchdowns.

Chief among them is Andy Uram, whose 79-yard sprint in the final seconds beat Nebraska 7 to 0. Uram has carried the ball 27 times for 110 yards from scrimmage and remained the Gophers' outstanding scoring threat despite the fact Bill Matthey and Vic Spadecini have gained more ground.

TIFTON TO PLAY VALDOSTA TODAY

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Three hurdles, any one of which may prove too difficult to negotiate, confront a trio of undefeated and untied championship contenders tomorrow night in the week's headline engagements of the South Georgia Football Association.

Albany, Moultrie and Tifton are the teams risking title hopes on home territory and the latter two are particularly in danger of having their perfect slates marred.

Chief importance, perhaps, will be the clash at Tifton between the Blue Devils and the twice beaten Valdosta Wildcats. Tifton displayed a lot of power last week in crushing Thomasville, 20-0. The Valdostans are on the comeback trail after a 7-0 upset at the hands of Jesup last week.

Moultrie's Packers, who overcame Bainbridge, 7-0, last Friday night, may expect to have their hands full when the Red Raiders from Waycross invade the Packer camp.

TECH B, GORDON PLAY SATURDAY

In the absence of Tech Saturday afternoon, the Jacket "B" team will play Dickie Butler's Gordon Institute eleven at 2 o'clock on Grant field.

It will be the third game of the year for the Bees, who lost to Tampa University and came back with a victory last week over the Tech freshmen.

Five Atlanta boys, several of whom expect to go to Tech next year, are members of Gordon's team and will play here Saturday. They are Billy Massengale, Tom Cumble and Harry Mount, from Boys' High; Tomm, Gantt, from Decatur, and Jack Hitt, from Marietta.

Gordon is undefeated this season and after a scoreless tie with Monroe Aggies, defeated Brewton-Parker and Middle Georgia College.

Following Saturday's game, Gordon will return to Atlanta Thursday night, October 29, to play Boys' High at Ponce de Leon park.

THE PORTLIGHT by GRANTLAND RICE

The Round-up

PITTSBURGH-NOTRE DAME—Much the hardest afternoon that unbeaten Notre Dame has yet faced. Pittsburgh has too much added experience at this stage. The 1935 Notre Dame cast has largely gone with the wind. The new model has been rolling well, but the odds belong to Pittsburgh.

NAVY-PRINCETON—Two aroused teams, each looking for a chance to get even for what happened last week. Navy has a slightly better backfield and Tiger has a better line if Montgomery and Ritter are ready. Game should be extremely close, with slight margin for Princeton.

FORDHAM - ST. MARY'S—Two unbeaten teams, with St. Mary's carrying the jump in manpower. St. Mary's rated one of best teams Slip Madigan has coached in several years. Fordham's lighter backfield will have trouble making any great headway. A good, hard game, with St. Mary's favored.

MINNESOTA-PURDUE—Probably the most important game of the day when it comes to the matter of sectional ranking. Minnesota is out after her 21st consecutive victory, and a good Purdue team is in the road with two fine backs in Isbell and Drake. Minnesota's chief hazard is the strain of a long winning streak and the rush to early form for the Washington and Nebraska tests. This should be a close fight for the Gopher, but the Gopher is still the pick.

L. S. U.-ARKANSAS—Arkansas' plugging attack is always dangerous, but L. S. U. is one of country's best and should win.

DUKE-TENNESSEE—Unbeaten and untied, Duke will have no easy time hurdling Bob Neyland's squad.

Laurens CCC Wins Over Rutledge, 9-7

Laurens, S. C., drew first blood Thursday afternoon in the Southeastern district CCC baseball series, defeating Rutledge, Ga., 9 to 7, at Fort McPherson yesterday. Two more games are scheduled to be played, provided Rutledge squares account in the second game.

Laurens' three hits and three runs were outstanding for the victors and it was his hitting which started an eighth inning rally.

Ponder hit best for the losers, with four safeties.

Tennessee Shoot Scheduled Today

JACKSON, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Ham House, secretary of the Jackson Gun Club, estimated last night that about 60 marksmen would participate in the state skeet shoot beginning Friday.

He said no formal entries have been filed and that none was expected until the day of the shoot.

Many of the expert gunners, he added, were due to tomorrow for a few practice targets at the site of the title event a few miles from here.

Non-residents are eligible to compete in the shoot, but are disqualified from collecting any of the trophies.

Champions will be crowned in the .20-gauge and the .410-gauge classes Saturday. The all-boy junior contests are set for Sunday. Friday is reserved for "money events" in which any gun may qualify.

CLEMSON BEATS SOUTH CAROLINA

was well above 85 degrees. Many of Clemson's men were supposed to be suffering frightfully from lime burns, an aftermath of the Wake Forest game.

But I don't know, the game they played today ought to encourage Jess Neely to bathe the boys in lime before every contest.

Tech fans will see on Saturday week a Clemson team that has a fast, hard charging line and several fine backs, including Captain Berry Winston Lawton, Mack Folger and Al Sanders. Tom McConnell and Don Shuford are a mighty fine pair of ends.
